SNOW MAY REACH 8-10 INCHES

The Snow Was Beautiful . . .

Road Staffs Fight 'Losing Battle;' Schools Shut

The Tri-State District today reeled under a March snowstorm that clogged roads, forced some schools to close and threatened to bury the area beneath an 8-to-10-inch white blanket by tonight.

Up to 7 inches had accumulated at noon today, the fall continued and the Ohio weatherman warned another 3 to 4 inches may pile up by this evening.

The situation appeared worse than after the storm of Feb. 14. Autoists were advised against traveling, with all roads termed hazardous.

The heavy snow had been forecast, unlike the 12-incher that nearly paralyzed the district on St. Valentine's day. It was the fourth substantial snow since mid-February.

But district highway crews appeared to be fighting a losing battle at mid-morning as the flakes descended without a letup.

High winds accompanied the storm that struck the Ohio Valley about midnight, sweeping up from lower West Virginia and adjoining southern sections.

By 6 a. m., Dam 8 at Newell had recorded 5 inches and the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia had the same total. The garage was alerted to look for 4 to 5 inches more by tonight.

There were numberous reports of drifted roads and traffic was at a standstill for varying periods on main highways.

Many secondary roads were blocked by drifts and some sections could not be reached.

A spokesman for the Ohio Highway Department said "we are losing ground and roads are in very bad shape." Eighteen crews were on the job.

The Columbiana County road crews did not start work until 7 a. m. because they felt it would be useless to try to clear roads in the stiff wind.

County crews hope to get all roads cleared to one lane as soon as possible. The condition this morning was termed bad."

The State Highway Patrol reported no accidents this morning, but roads were very bad and becoming worse, describing the storm as the worst so far this winter.

Traffic jams were reported at a number of hilly sites, and some highways, such as Route 45 between Salem and Lisbon, were blocked by stalled trucks or cars at times.

Officers began sending school buses back from routes earlier this morning. Cpl. John Miller said he followed one Lisbon bus which became stuck 5 times in 100 yards, so he and the driver decided to return the bus.

Miller said reports from the western and middle parts of the state, where some roads are already impassable, indicate main roads here may become clogged soon.

The West Virginia Road Commission at Pughtown advised motorists not to travel, even with chains.

A spokesman said salt and cinders are not doing any good, and snowplows are having a difficult time, chiefly because the snow piles up as quickly as it is cleared.

Despite the snowfall, however, traffic remains heavy, the spokesman said.

Seven crews from the garage are at work attempting to keep the primary and secondary roads open and, in addition, a private firm in Weirton is using five trucks and a grader to work on primary roads in the Weirton area. The road crews started work about 11 last night.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said all highways in its area still were open at mid-morning but feared they might be closed by drifts if the wind continued.

All the roads were reported hazardous. The patrol said the highway department crews were called this morning to cinder and plow.

The Beaver County division of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department at Rochester reported this morning all major and secondary roads were open.

Crews were sent out at midnight and have been using graders and plows to keep roads open, the Beaver department said.

Ohio Township roads were termed "bad" with drifts up to 2 and 3 feet in some places. Both the Carnegie and Rochester barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported highways in bad shape and slippery with "plenty" of snow.

East Liverpool, Wellsville and Beaver Local Schools were the first to announce the buildings would not open today. Friday's situation will depend on how much more snow falls.

Incinerator Crews Given Snow Shovels

With city garbage and trash collections halted by the snow, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver assigned the 25 incinerator department employes to work cleaning crosswalks and other downtown areas this morning.

The director said the incinerator department could not make its collection rounds because the trucks could not get in and out of the snow-covered road into the landfill dump in St. Clair Township.

The incinerator department workers also were assigned to snow-removal when trash and garbage collections were halted in the St. Valentine's Day storm.

Downtown streets were covered with heavy mounds of snow at mid-morning, but traffic was moving comparatively well, although at a slow pace.

Pedestrians had the toughest going. Many sidewalks still were not cleared at mid-morning. Streets were difficult to cross because of the deep snow, particularly in areas near the curb where it had been shoved off sidewalks.

9 Million Creep, Skid, Plow, And Shovel

Ohio Reels From Winter's Heaviest General Snowfall

By The Associated Press

Nine million Ohioans crept, skidded, plowed and shoveled today through the heaviest general snow of the winter.

Such major cities as Akron, Toledo and Youngstown had seven inches of snow on the ground by daybreak — and still more was swirling down.

Wind-whipped snow in the Fremont area piled up drifts as high as four feet.

Rural schools by the dozens in all sections of the state gave up early in the day and declared a holiday.

The Weather Bureau in Columbus reported apparently not a single square foot of Ohio missed the onslaught of the storm which began late Wednesday afternoon in the south and swept northward across the state.

Traffic crawled—when it moved at all—in the metropolitan areas as highway crews pressed every available piece of scraping equipment into use and spread thousands of tons of salt and cinders.

The snowfall by dawn measured five to seven inches in Cleveland and Columbus and Dayton had five. Cincinnati had an official four inches, but it was reported deeper in some sections of the Queen City.

Cleveland was warned to prepare for nine to 10 inches by night.

Prospects were that the storm will dwindle to flurries by afternoon or night. But there appeared no immediate chance of a thaw with temperatures scheduled to remain below the freezing mark.

In the Sandusky area, the drifted snow was so deep that chemicals couldn't bite their way down to the pavement and traffic on such key routes as Ohio 2 and Ohio 6 was barely moving.

Because of the heavy drifting in the area, caused by 20-30 m.p.h. winds, Fremont area schools closed.

Drifting also was common in the northeast with drifts to two feet deep on Geauga County roads. Five to seven inches of snow was the general rule in the northeastern sector.

Hazardous road conditions brought pleas from safety officials all over the state for a curb on unnecessary travel.

In many areas, the new snowfall

20 Deaths Attributed To Violent Weather

Destructive Ice And Snow Storms Rip Into East U.S.

By The Associated Press

Destructive ice and snow storms, which staggered broad sections of the South, border states and the Midwest, ripped into the East today in one of winter's most violent weather attacks.

The fast-moving and far-reaching storms—the worst in years in some areas—caused a score of deaths, widespread damage and hardship and inconvenienced millions.

The storm belt stretched from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

Cold weather gripped most of the storm zone, below zero in north central regions, freezing in much of the South and East.

At least 20 deaths were attributed to the inclement weather. There were 6 each in Texas and Colorado, 3 in Kansas, 2 in Tennessee, and 1 each in Mississippi, Iowa and North Carolina.

Strong winds fanned the snowstorm into eastern sections, from the upper and mid Mississippi Valley southeastward to the Appalachians and eastward through West Virginia and Virginia to the Atlantic Coast. There was much blowing and drifting snow in the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys. Heavy snow—up to 10 inches—was indicated in some areas from the Ohio Valley to the Atlantic Coast.

A belt of rain and drizzle extended from western West Virginia southward into southeastern Tennessee. Sleet and freezing rain pelted areas east of the Appalachians from the Carolinas to northeastern Alabama. Rain fell along the coast from northern Florida northward to North Carolina.

A sheath of ice and a blanket of snow covered southern areas from Virginia to Arkansas and East Texas. Snow measured up to 9 inches in southwest Virginia.

The worst ice storm in 25 years pounded northeast Alabama and northern Georgia. Sleet and snow glazed Arkansas highways and streets and snowfalls measured up to a half foot in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Damage to pine forests in south Arkansas was estimated at several million dollars. Forestry officials placed damage to woodlands in Louisiana alone at a million dollars.

Auto Wreck Kills Oakmont Woman

A 59-year-old Oakmont woman was injured fatally and a Canton man hospitalized when their cars collided on Route 30 at West Point Wednesday afternoon at 2:50.

Mrs. Hazel M. Smith, a substitute teacher at the West Point School, died at City Hospital at 4:30 p. m. of injuries suffered in the crash with a car operated by Richard Adams, 21, of Canton NE.

Mrs. Smith, apparently en route home from the West Point School where she taught yesterday, drove from the West Point Rd. onto Route 30, turning south, when her car was rammed broadside by Adams' southbound auto, the State Highway Patrol said.

Adams is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with abrasions of the face, a laceration of the scalp and neck injury.

The patrol at Lisbon said Adams' 1960 sedan smashed into the side of the woman's 1953 sedan, knocking it to the right side of [illegible]. Smith suffered lacerations of the forehead and a leg injury. Both cars were demolished, officers said.

The death marked Columbiana County's 7th fatality this year, compared to 3 killed at this time in 1959.

Patrolman said the coroner's office has not yet issued a ruling, and the case still is under investigation.

Mrs. Smith was born at Federal, W. Va., a daughter of Mrs. Luray McFarland Fleming of St. Marys, and the late Thomas E. Fleming. She had resided in the East Liverpool area for 25 years.

She had been a substitute teacher in Beaver Local Schools. She attended the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include her husband, Lysle R. Smith; her mother; three daughters, Mrs. Ernest Dunn and Miss Carolyn Smith of Cleveland and Miss Mary I. Smith of East Liverpool; two sons, Howard B. Collins And Gower Head Primary Ballot In Nomination Bid

A mayoralty contest was assured in Chester's Republican primary April 5 with Wednesday's filing by Ray Collins, 862 Carolina Ave., as a candidate for the party nomination.

Collins, 38, a supervissor at the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, was a candidate for the post two years ago.

Herman Gower, bakery operator and former councilman, has also filed for the party nomination.

Collins, a World War II veteran and member of the Masonic Lodge, was graduated from Chester High School and attended West Virginia University for a year.

He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

The Republicans have a full slate so far; Roy Cashdollar, city clerk; Dino Rossi, First Ward Council; Cyril Govey, Second Ward; Donald Hissam, Third Ward; Harry Davis, Fourth Ward, and Percy Willison, Fifth Ward.

Mayor Burton Ward is the only Democrat to file, seeking re-election.

Saturday midnight is the deadline for filing for municipal office nominations.

Official Candidates Now

Sens. Johnson, Symington 'Back Into' President Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) are official candidates now for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The two presidential hopefuls backed into the race Wednesday with separate announcements they would not withdraw their names from the May 20 Oregon presidential primary. Both still avoided any direct statements that they are candidates.

Johnson said he was too involved in the Senate filibuster on civil rights to give any attention to outside political matters. But he said he has "no plans to act in any way on the Oregon action."

This meant he would not file an affidavit with the Oregon secretary of state to take his name off the ballot. Oregon law requires that all nationally recognized candidates be named. They can withdraw only by filing a statement disavowing candidacy.

Johnson's announcement was interpreted as indicating he has not lost hope he can combine Southern and Western backing in a serious challenge for the nomination.

Johnson's Southern support has been shaken by his action in bringing the civil rights issue before the Senate. Some of his Dixie colleagues have sent word to him they don't think they can hold their state delegations for him if he eventually votes for a debate limitation to end the current Southern filibuster, which he may have to do.

Without strong Southern backing, Johnson may not be in a position to challenge Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), an announced candidate. Kennedy has been saying recently that Johson is his biggest rival but that was before the civil rights conrtoversy exploded.

Kennedy's name, put into the Oregon contest by the state secretary of state, will stay there along with those of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

Compromise Bill Pushed In Civil Rights

New Speechmaking Record Claimed In Senate Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) pressed for a compromise bill today while the Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation gathered momentum.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La) set a new speechmaking record for the current day-and-night debate even as the Senate Democratic leader began talking up a new bill in conferences with Democratic proponents of civil rights amendments. Republicans also were surveying chances of a compromise.

Another quorum call came at 9:50 a.m., bringing sleepy-eyed civil rights supporters to the Senate chamber from nearby cots and couches. For the most part they were fully dressed, although a few were without neckties.

They mustered a quorum in 31 minutes, and then Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla) took over the Southern speaking chore for the pre-breakfast pull.

Smathers served a relatively short stint until 6:45 a. m. His theme was that the civil rights bill is a possible vehicle for dictatorship. He cited figures to indicate increasing registration is provid-

Eisenhower Ends Triumphant Tour

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Eisenhower flew north toward home today after a triumphant four-nation South American tour marked by huge, enthusiastic crowds and a smattering of tiny anti-U.S. demonstrations.

The President flew to Buenos Aires in his trusty Columbine III after a 21-hour stay in Montevideo, capital of neighboring Uruguay. He held a brief last meeting at the Buenos Aires airport with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi, then took off in his Boeing 707 jet for an all-day flight to Puerto Rico and three days of rest before going on to Washington.

U.S. Air Force officials said the flight plan at the time of departure called for a refueling stop in Paramaribo, Surinam, after a flight of nearly six hours. That schedule would put the President in Puerto Rico late this afternoon (4:30 p. m. EST).

Eisenhower was smiling and in obvious good humor as he said goodby to President Frondizi. They had a final 15-minute talk aboard the sleek jet just before it took off.

Just before leaving Uruguay, Eisenhower and President Benito Nardone issued a joint "Declaration of Montevideo" repudiating all types of antidemocratic actions. They pledged their adherence to the principle of nonintervention in the affairs of other American countries and agreed to use their efforts to increase economic, social and cultural cooperation.

Then the two presidents gave each other a hearty abrazo — the South American bearhug embrace —and Eisenhower boarded his plane, waving and grinning.

Eisenhower was up early. He gave a short talk to U. S. Embassy personnel and their families at the Embassy residence before boarding his helicopter for the trip to the Montevideo airport.

Frondizi met Eisenhower at the Buenos Aires airport. About 500 persons — including government officials, troops and some bystanders waiting to board commercial planes—looked on.

Walking up a long red carpet to his silver and orange jet, Eisenhower paused to say good-by to Ambassador and Mrs. Willard L. Beaulac.

Eisenhower and Frondizi talked for 15 minutes aboard the jet before its departure.

Though the flight plan called for the refueling stop at Paramaribo, airport officials here said the plane might fly directly to

Just before leaving Uruguay, Eisenhower and President Benito Nardone issued a joint "Declaration of Montevideo" repudiating all types of antidemocratic actions. They pledged their adherence to the principle of nonintervention in the affairs of other American countries and agreed to use their efforts to increase economic, social and cultural cooperation.

Then the two presidents gave each other a hearty abrazo — the South American bearhug embrace —and Eisenhower boarded his plane, waving and grinning.

Eisenhower was up early. He gave a short talk to U. S. Embassy personnel and their families at the Embassy residence before boarding his helicopter for the trip to the Montevideo airport.

Frondizi met Eisenhower at the Buenos Aires airport. About 500 persons — including government officials, troops and some bystanders waiting to board commercial planes—looked on.

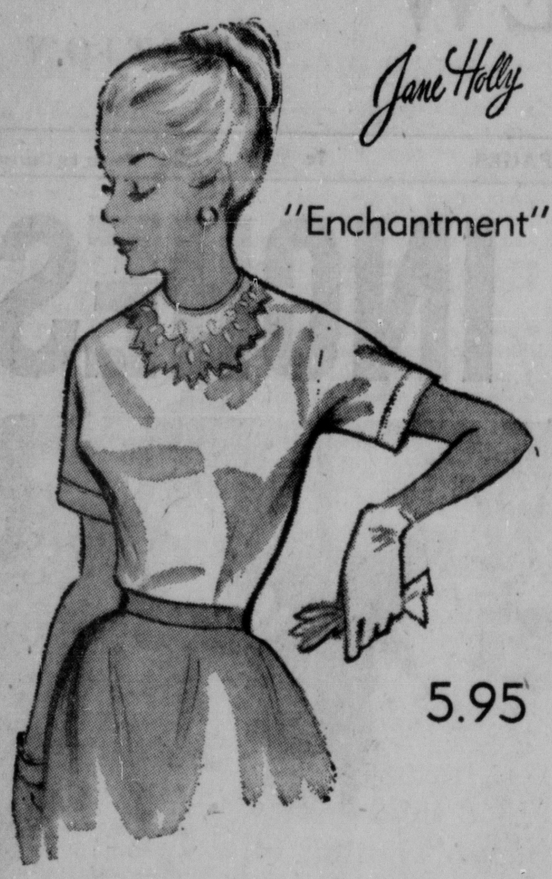

Walking up a long red carpet to his silver and orange jet, Eisenhower paused to say good-by to Ambassador and Mrs. Willard L. Beaulac.

Eisenhower and Frondizi talked for 15 minutes aboard the jet before its departure.

Though the flight plan called for the refueling stop at Paramaribo, airport officials here said the plane might fly directly to

Chester Lets Contract For Planning Wall

Preparations for construction of a retaining wall at Chester's upper pumping station was placed back on schedule Wednesday night with the approval of an engineering contract by City Council.

Council formally authorized the contract with the McGill - Smith Engineering Co. of Bethel, clearing the way for the project to be done by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and paid for by federal funds.

The wall will be required for protection of the pumping station when the Ohio River pool level rises after completion of the Stratton Super Dam. The contract from the engineering firm was not delivered until this week.

Roy Cashdollar, acting mayor, said no date has been set for start of the construction. The U. S. Engineers earlier notified city officials it had been hoped work would be undertaken this winter, but the engineering contract had not been received from the Bethel firm.

The contract was taken from Council meeting by Patrolman Harold Davis to Mayor Burton Ward who signed it at his home where he is convalescing from a recent heart attack.

Councilman Charles Kology, chairman of the street committee, reported a representative of the River Asphalt Co. has assured him the firm will make repairs to various street sites where cracks or depressions have developed since resurfacing last fall.

Kology said the work will be done when weather permits.

Cashdollar reported $312 received from property owners for assessments on the street program, now due.

No action was taken on a recommendation by Councilman James Waggle that two additional electric meters be installed in the City Hall—one for the fire siren and one for the custodian's apartment.

mously that no ballots be counted in the primary until all the polls are closed.

State law permits counting of ballots prior to the closing. Some Councilmen said last night in past municipal elections, candidates for office have learned how they stood in the balloting before the polls were closed.

Such a practice could enable a candidate to muster more supporters to vote for him, it was pointed out.

Councilman James Waggle made the motion, seconded by Councilman John Olash, and prohibiting of such early counting was approved.

Cashdollar, acting mayor, reminded councilmen polling places and workers should be named at the next meeting. The customary five poll workers will be retained for each ward.

Orchard Men To Fight Mice

LISBON — Mice, gnawing away the roots and life of apple orchards, have destroyed a large number of producing trees in Columbiana County, according to Floyd Lower, who said efforts are being made to solve the problem.

The county extension agent in agriculture said a co-operative project between the Ohio Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has been initiated in the area.

Joseph Papania, New Waterford orchardist, was hired as an animal control agent. With the aid of the county extension agents, Papania has been working with local growers to determine the present control practices, evaluate them and to make recommendations where necessary.

This includes investigations of population, species and present rate of damage and to develop new control procedures. Work is centered in Northeast Ohio because of the concentration of orchards.

Mouse damage is insidious and may catch growers completely unaware. Trees that have lost many of their roots or are girdled may show no effects for as much as two years. Papania urged county orchardists to remain alert and equipped to handle mouse problems between Oct. 1 and April 30. The best control measures include both proper cultural practices and reduction of mouse numbers. Recommended baiting procedures include hand placement of specially treated grain bates during the early fall of each year. Toxic ground sprays are also used as rodenticides, but are seldom more effective, besides being more expensive and hazardous than grian baits.

Results of Papania's work this year will be summarized and circulated to growers and county agents. Plans are being made to continue the program next year through co-operation of both the state-federal project and local grower organizations, Lower said.

Snowstorm Brings Rash Of Cancellations Of Events

Here we go again! So muttered officials of numerous East Liverpool area organizations and groups as scheduled meetings were canceled or postponed because of the snow.

There was a number of such postponements after the St. Valentine Day storm and probably as many were "buried" by today's white blanket.

Hopefully, some were postponed to Friday night with the expectations streets and roads will be fairly clear by then.

Mrs. Charles Vaughn, hostess, said the meeting of the WSCS scheduled for tonight at the Wellsville First Methodist Church has been canceled until further notice.

The public card party scheduled for tonight by the Pride of the Valley Council 4, Daughters of America, has been postponed to March 17 at the Sons of Veterans Hall.

A meeting of the Beaver Local Education Association, slated tonight at the West Point School, has been postponed until later this month, Harry West, president, said. Atty. Jack Kuhlman of Youngstown will speak on "The Teacher and the Law."

Wellsville FOP Lodge 51 was to meet tonight at 7:30 in the Carnegie Public Library but Kim Fulton, secretary, said it has been postponed to Friday night.

The public skating party planned by the Parental Group of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association, scheduled for tonight at the Melody Rink of Hookstown, has been postponed to April 7.

Maximum speed on the Ohio Turnpike was reduced to 40 miles an hour. In each of the toll road's eight maintenance areas there were eight trucks plowing snow.

Turnpike headquarters reported there were a few minor skidding accidents this morning, but that traffic was moving all along the route.

Third Heavy Snow Blankets West Virginia

By The Associated Press

Motorists were slippin' and slidin' today after the third heavy snowstorm of the winter blanketed West Virginia.

Schools were closed today in at least four counties — Fayette, Raleigh, Summers and Wyoming.

The snow came in from the south, hitting the hardest first in the Bluefield-Princeton area and in McDowell County. The storm swept northward through Summers, Raleigh and Wyoming counties by noon.

The Charleston area began to feel the effects of increasing snowfall by nightfall. Clarksburg reported snow at about 8 o'clock last night. By that time the storm worked its way north to Morgantown, Wheeling and the Eastern Panhandle.

Parkersburg had an alarming accumulation of snow last night, too. U.S. 21, a major highway between Charleston and Parkersburg, was blocked by stalled cars between Ripley, Jackson County, and Sissonville in Kanawha County.

State Police said automobiles couldn't make it over the hilly sections because they didn't use chains.

Both ends of the West Virginia Turnpike between Charleston and Princeton had traffic snarls. Again State Police said, failure to use chains caused the difficulty.

Midland NAACP Plans For Dinner

Further plans for a first annual banquet May 27 at the Midland Steelworkers Hall were made during a meeting of the Midland branch of the NAACP Wednesday night.

Will T. Leavell, president, presided. Mrs. Lillie Jones will be general banquet chairman.

Leavell reported on a recent Planning Commission meeting which he, Aaron Golding and Bryant Perkins attended at Lincoln High School.

About 10 new members were accepted. The next meeting will be April 6.

500 At County Science Fair

LISBON—Over 500 attended the County Sceince Fair at United Local School Wednesday afternoon and evening, according to Mrs. Marilyn Humphrey, United Local science teacher and fair chairman. Winners of gold and silver awards are:

Seventh and eighth grade general science—Linda Kress and Larry Weikert, both of Fairfield-Waterford.

Ninth grade general science — Hiram Henry, Beaver Local, and Eldon Botts, Fairfield-Waterford.

Biology—Nancy Schiff, and Larry Deidrick, both of Beaver Local.

Chemistry and physics — Jim Ernst and Dan Phelps, United Local, and Chalmers Blatch of Beaver Local and Bruce Swearengen of United Local, tied for second.

There were over 180 exhibits and all received recognition. The top 24 science exhibits will be shown at the East Liverpool Fair Saturday.

Judges were Alpha Riddle, elementary supervisor, and Bill Kenner, principal at Tuscarawas Valley; Alexander Lindsay, principal at Midvale High School; Lenton Honaker, secondary supervisor of Tuscarawas County; Daniel Frieberg, Mrs. Betty Mason, Mrs. Florence Wilhelm of Leetonia and James Harper of Westgate School in East Liverpool.

Most of the mortar used in building brick walls is a mixture of either lime, sand and water, or cement, sand and water. After the bricks are arranged in position, the water dries out of the mortar and the paste sets into a firm substance.

ALGIERS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle flew to Algeria today for the military inspection which the French settlers' insurrection in Algiers in January delayed.

De Gaulle left Paris without fanfare, slipping out of the presidential palace before dawn. His Caravelle jet landed at Talergma, near Constantine, in eastern Algeria.

The snow came in from the south, hitting the hardest first in the Bluefield-Princeton area and in McDowell County. The storm swept northward through Summers, Raleigh and Wyoming counties by noon.

The Charleston area began to feel the effects of increasing snowfall by nightfall. Clarksburg reported snow at about 8 o'clock last night. By that time the storm worked its way north to Morgantown, Wheeling and the Eastern Panhandle.

Parkersburg had an alarming accumulation of snow last night, too. U.S. 21, a major highway between Charleston and Parkersburg, was blocked by stalled cars between Ripley, Jackson County, and Sissonville in Kanawha County.

State Police said automobiles couldn't make it over the hilly sections because they didn't use chains.

Both ends of the West Virginia Turnpike between Charleston and Princeton had traffic snarls. Again State Police said, failure to use chains caused the difficulty.

ALGIERS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle flew to Algeria today for the military inspection which the French settlers' insurrection in Algiers in January delayed.

May A Solution Be Forthcoming

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and his safety-service director, Lee Copenhaver, are seeking a way by which the city can raise some $285,000 it will need as its share of the California Hollow-West End Freeway.

Council authorized the exploratory action by the administration's two top officials after the state of Ohio laid the facts and figures on the table.

As the mayor phrased it at this week's Council meeting, there is no question as to the "enormity of the problem". By this first step, however, both the administration and Council have indicated they are prepared to pursue the matter to the fullest in the hope of a satisfactory solution.

We wish them "good hunting". The freeway is too important a project to be allowed to die on the vine after the effort—and money—that already has been expended on its behalf.

It offers one of the better opportunities for attracting the small, diversified industries which East Liverpool needs so badly—if not within the city itself at least close enough to prove of a definite benefit. The Ohio River and a freeway, with its connecting links, would be prize plums to dangle before plants seeking new, economical locations.

There's also a matter of some $150,000 already tied up in the form of blueprints and other phases of preliminary planning. The blueprints will be useless unless the project is carried to its completion.

And $285,000, while a sizable sum, is a small share for $5,700,000 freeway. If East Liverpool doesn't get the road, you can be sure someone else will step in and take advantage of the situation.

The freeway is a vital phase of a long-range development program so necessary here to help East Liverpool keep abreast of other progressive communities.

It would be a feather in the cap of the administration and Council if a solution in the best interest of the community is offered in time to meet the mid-July deadline set by the state.

Varsity Squad In Dialectics

The world champions in the art of dispute are the Russian Marxists.

They even send their disciples to special schools to learn how to tie an opponent in knots with obscure reasoning and circumlocution.

In their mouths, black becomes white, white becomes black and gray turns into a spectrum of overlapping half-truths and falsehoods.

Every modern nation has had reason to complain about this Russian expertness in dialectics. It was the first place where Marxists stole a march on their opponents. A word gap existed long before a missile gap, and to this day a Russian diplomat can outtalk and out-becloud an opponent with one tonsil tied behind him.

But to keep the Russians from getting the idea they are best in everything under the sun — Winter Olympics, the education of children, borsch, missileering, folk dancing and issue becloudment —, whoever is in charge of the cultural exchange program for the United States should invite all Russians now properly in this country to take in the Senate filibuster.

HERE IS BECLOUDMENT that would stagger a United Nations delegate in the U.S.S.R. slot in a Security Council debate. Here is the art of obfuscation brought to polysyllabic perfection.

In the Congressional Record of Monday, Feb. 29, the day the Senate went into 24-hour session, even the Government Printing Office got so confused it mixed up the pages. The mixup did not detract from the general impression of this document during a filibuster.

It is the finest bedtime reading ever put on paper. Speeches signifying nothing but the consumption of the time required to enunciate them go on for pages at a time. They are interspersed with long quibbles between time-killing debaters over thin issues of parliamentary procedure.

Occasionally, there will be a spate of serious business, or a reminder by a conscience-stricken legislator that this, sir, is the United States Senate and don't let anyone forget that, no sir.

A CONSCIENTIOUS reader who can keep his eyes open as they sweep back and forth across the barren plains of wordage will find here and there the words "civil rights," to reassure him that he is still close to the main trail; that the debate has not run entirely off the beaten path.

We think a Russian visitor would have to concede that here is twaddle and prolixity that would have done credit to the late Andrei Vishinsky, the Communist lawyer who set the all-time pace for getting listeners so mixed up they couldn't even disagree with him, for fear he might be talking about something else.

In a backward kind of way, the United States finally is doing something so outstanding that no one need have any fear of being outdistanced by Russia. It holds the world championship in dispute, but it must step aside in filibustering.

That's where the United States shines.

Time Will Tell

Samuel Hayes has obtained what could be called a new lease on life as a patrolman with the East Liverpool police department.

Originally suspended for a year, he now will return to duty March 16 under reconsideration of the original order by Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver. The director acted after Patrolman Hayes took steps to correct the situations which led to his suspension.

The decision will prove a wise one if Hayes "has learned his lesson", as he says.

The decision will prove a wise one if it doesn't foster a feeling of general carelessness among others on the force.

The decision will prove a wise one if it doesn't tend to lower the general morale of the department.

These are considerations that can't be ignored in cases such as that of Patrolman Hayes. The department standards have been improving constantly the last few years. Nothing should be done to retard such improvement.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Just heard of a revolt in razing the famed Ebbets Field, once home of Brooklyn Bums. A bulldozer operator who had long been a Brooklyn rooter, boy and man, leaped from his machine and screamed, "Busher!" at it and added, "What have ya got? I'm benching you."

"I got a wife and kids," he told us. "I'm a bulldozer and steam shovel operator and when I got assigned to Ebbets Field I did my best for a few days. But as a loyal fan I kept thinking it was sacrilegious, vandalism, dirty work, mayhem, and plain murder.

It was like fighting shadows and blitzing memories. Every time I bowled something over or shoveled it up I could hear boos from guys like Dazzy Vance, Babe Herman and Zach Wheat.

"Taking a turn on a steam shovel, I imagined I saw Carl Furillo and the Simp-Phoney Band climbing out of the shovel and coming at me with fists flying. The guy who handles two-ton iron ball tells me that when he dropped it on the dugout roof he saw the ghost of Uncle Robbie try to fling it back at him."

The boss tried to get our rebel friend to go back on the job, but no dice.

"Once a Dodger fan always a Dodger fan. I would as soon of been told to tear down a church or a hospital. It was plain sabotage," he sobbed. His case was as sad as that of a Dodger loyal rooter who shot his wife last week. She had told him she wanted a flat between first and second base.

"I'm moving away so I won't ever see Ebbets Field when the apartments go up," said the bulldozer rebel. "I could never stand seeing a baby-sitter around shortstop or hear a mother crooning lullabies on the spot where Leo Durocher once slugged it out with an umpire.

"And can you imagine hearing fireside words like 'Do you love me?' coming from the region where 'Throw the bum out, 'Thief' and 'Robber' used to rule!"

To The Finish!

A Basis For United Action

By Victor Riesel

On Feb. 17, a letter of considerable importance—to the nation—was dropped into a Washington mail box. It was addressed to Robert F. Kennedy.

Victor Riesel

On that day, as on the few previous days, the members of the Senate racket probing committee were going over the proofs of their series of final reports.

They found that a "second government" exists in the United States. Certainly it exists if the arson, the terror, the extortion, the mayhem, the pillaging of union funds, the brutal beating of men, the destruction of private property and the sheer disdain for our own government's law and order are accurately recorded in those final reports.

Those crimes, that looting, that desecration of American labor and managment were disclosed under the questioning of chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy.

If Mr. Kennedy handled three years of committee probing with fairness and equal rights to all, then the second government exists and still must be fought.

It is, therefore, important to appraise Robert Kennedy's conduct of the Senate inquiry into the iniquity of the underworld's hold on some unions and some management.

That handling was appraised in the letter which was mailed to Kennedy on Feb. 17.

THE LETTER was written by Arthur Goldberg, special counsel to the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. Therefore, there could be no severer critic. This is what Goldberg wrote, which can now be published for the first time:

"Dear Bob: I want to thank you very much for your kindness in sending me a copy of your book, "The Enemy Within."

"The publication of your book, which I have read with great interest and which I have found to be readable, provocative and informative, affords me a welcome opportunity to express to you my views concerning your work as counsel to the Select Committee on Improper Practices in the Labor or Management Field.

"As you accurately report in your book, you and I first became acquainted at the outset of the committee's work when we lunched together and shortly after at a subsequent lunch in the Senate dining room, together with Sen. McClellan and Mr. (George) Meany (president of the AFL-CIO).

"At our first meeting you told me in straightforward terms that in your capacity as counsel for the committee, you intended to carry on the committee's work in a fair and impartial manner and without any bias, fear or favor.

"I think it appropriate to say that throughout the entire course of the conduct of the committee's activities, you never departed from this statement of your objectives.

"I followed your work throughout and am aware of no instance where any legitimate, honest labor leader or labor organization had any cause for complaint because of your conduct as counsel of the committee's affairs.

"I think you have every reason to be proud of your outstanding work on behalf of the committee and of the contribution that you have made to decent, honest, democratic American trade unionism.

"With kindest personal regards, I am,

"Yours cordially,
"Arthur."

THIS LETTER says, in effect, that labor's most distinguished attorney believes that the McClellan committee hearings never were conducted so they'd harm a clean union. It also reveals for the first time that Sen. McClellan and Robert Kennedy did consult with the president of the AFL-CIO.

Therefore, at no one time was the hearing even remotely anti-labor — simply anti the rackets which had infiltrated and seized some unions. These were then used as a base for power to aid the mobsters who had infiltrated industry by setting up their own firms.

Thus the underworld was able to put legitimate labor and business in a vise.

Therefore, the McClellan committee reports should become the basis for action all across the land.

Test For Taft-Hartley

By Raymond Moley

We shall now see whether James Hoffa and his merry men can again wriggle out of a legal net. Also, we shall see whether the Department of Justice really intends to enforce the provisions in the Taft-Hartley legislation dealing with labor unions' political activities.

Two locals of the Teamsters together with six officials of the locals of the Teamsters are involved.

The individuals named in a 22-count indictment in St. Louis include Harold J. Gibbons, who has been prominently in the news because of his extensive appearances before the McClellan committee.

He is a vice president of the national union as well as an officer of the local which generally directs the operations of the Teamsters in St. Louis. He is also administrative assistant to Hoffa.

ANOTHER OFFICIAL named is Sidney Zagri, legislative counsel for the international organization.

The alleged beneficiaries of alleged contributions are Sens. Hennings and Morse, Reps. James Roosevelt, Henry Reuss of Wisconsin, and two Missouri candidates for the House who failed of election. These contributions were made for primaries in 1956.

Hennings, Morse, Roosevelt and Reuss have stated since the indictment that they presumed the contributions were from funds voluntarily subscribed by members of the unions.

The law allegedly violated is Sec. 610 of Title 18 of the United States Code. It was included in the Taft-Hartley legislation.

In substance, the law is an addition to legislation passed in 1907 forbidding contributions to campaigns for federal offices by corporations. The Taft-Hartley legislation put labor organizations under the same prohibition.

It should be pointed out that unions quit generally collect voluntary contributions from members for political purposes. But the provisions of the law prohibit contributions from the general funds of unions, which are made up of dues collected from all members.

In the 22-count indictment in St. Louis it is charged that the contributions "were derived substantially or entirely from the dues payments made by members" for the "general purposes" of the union.

THIS SECTION of the law was invoked against the United Automobile Workers for something that happened in the 1954 campaign. An indictment was secured which the federal district judge in Michigan dismissed.

When it was carried to the Supreme Court, the indictment was reinstated and Justice Frankfurter delivered a lengthy opinion concerning the history of the legislation and its importance.

He said: "What is involved here is the integrity of the electoral process and not less, the responsibility of the individual citizen for the successful functioning of that process. This case thus raises issues not less than basic to a democratic society."

However, when the case was tried before the same judge who had dismissed the indictment, there was an acquittal. The Justice Department then seemed to regard the statute as a dead letter.

The facts in the Teamsters case seem much more substantial than in the UAW case. In that instance, what was involved was payment by the union for a radio broadcast on which a candidate appeared. There was no direct monetary contribution involved.

In the present case the alleged facts go straight to the heart of the matter.

The question is whether a union member's money, which he contributes as dues for the general purposes of the union, can be used to support political candidates whom he may or may not favor.

In short, the alleged offense is the injustice of using money contributed for another purpose to support a candidate repugnant to the contributor and without his express permission.

Down Through The Years

Mrs. George K. Donaldson of Wellsville preached during two-week revival services in the Glendale Chapel near Newell.

TEN YEARS AGO — The dollar volume of new building in East Liverpool dropped off by more than 50 per cent in February, compared with January.

Civil Rights Hypocrisy

By David Lawrence

Some Background On Present Debate

Resentment, hypocrisy, deep-seated antagonisms, political selfishness — all these are part of the background of what is being called a civil rights debate in the United States Senate.

David Lawrence

Little is apparent of the feeling that disputes can better be resolved if a conciliatory spirit prevails. Instead, friction and bitterness are being engendered daily — indeed, it is actually promoted as a means of getting publicity.

The "sit down" demonstrations in the South, for instance, are regrettable evidences of the mistaken theory that progress in a controversy can be made by stirring up more and more hostility between the groups involved.

Even many of those citizens who not so long ago were crying out for "law and order" seem strangely silent when Negro and white demonstrators enter private business establishments and refuse to leave seats pre-empted by them in the restaurants until ousted forcibly.

Reports from the South are that many people who enter the stores and see the demonstrators are beginning to send unfriendly glances toward all Negroes they see. This is the way bad feeling is spread and violence provoked.

One wonders whether the instigators of the "sit down" stunts have taken into account the damage to race relations which has already been done by the demonstrations in the restaurants and lunch rooms.

THE DEBATE in the Senate is supposedly over voting rights. This is not the basic issue. For the South does recognize the right of a qualified citizen to vote. The controversy is over the method that shall be used to determine whether a voter is qualified.

The theory is advanced by Northern proponents of so-called civil rights legislation that the federal government shall police the registration of voters — hitherto predominantly a state function.

In the North as well as the South, literacy tests are required and in some states property must be owned as a qualification for voting.

The 15th Amendment to the Constitution says that the right of citizens to vote shall not be abridged because of "race or color." This amendment was declared ratified in 1870 but the legislatures of states like California, Delaware and New Jersey rejected it. Even New York State, after first voting to ratify, then voted to rescind its ratification.

There is a moral question, too, as to whether the amendment was really ratified by the will of the people's elected representatives in three-fourths of the state legislatures for in the South the legislatures were dominated by military forces sent there by the federal government after the war was over. Ratification of amendments to the Constitution was compelled, in some instances, at the point of the bayonet.

THE SOUTH hasn't forgotten all this. Many of the wounds of those days were healed in part by the 1896 decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. It approved the many state Supreme Court decisions of the previous 25 years, including those in New York and Ohio, which upheld the principle of "separate but equal" facilities for education.

Now that the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court of the United States has completely upset the 1896 ruling, the South feels it has been mistreated all along the line, beginning with the forced acceptance of the amendments to the Constitution by illegal legislatures in the years following the War Between the States.

The Southern senators know they are outnumbered. But they wouldn't be true to the sentiments of their constituents if they didn't use every proper occasion to debate the issues.

Extremists on both sides are beclouding the issues. The controversy is being used to gain votes in the North for so-called champions of civil rights but hypocrisy is evident because protection for the citizen in his right to cross a picket line in a labor dispute is ignored.

There apparently will be no legislation on that phase of civil rights.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? A significant statement was recently made in a new book written by W. D. Workman Jr., of Columbia, S.C., a veteran of World War II, whose newspaper and magazine writings have brought him civic, industrial, agricultural and military awards in addition to some in the field of journalism. His book is entitled "The Case for the South," and he writes:

"Short of utter amalgamation of the races, a thing utterly unacceptable to white Southerners, there is no solution to the problem of race relations: There can only be a continual adjustment and readjustment of relationships.

"The sense of race, no less than those of religion or of nationality, is so deeply embedded in man's nature — both conscious and unconscious — that it cannot be eradicated in the foreseeable future, if indeed it should be eradicated.

"Some persons, whose impulses can be regulated or whose incentives can be manipulated, may rise above or descend below, race consciousness but the masses are not likely ever to shed their recognition of race.

"Whatever may be the future of race relations in America, this much seems evident: That neither satisfaction nor peace can come from any coercive mingling of the white and black races against the will of either and that little hope can be entertained for any assimilation of one in the other.

"There remains, then, only the prospect of accommodating their differences in a pattern of peaceful co-existence based upon a friendly tolerance and helpful understanding.

"It is the recognition of racial distinctions, not their denial, which will lessen the tensions and enhance their adjustment."

A Test For The Tours

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

You can run your own test on how much interest you have in President Eisenhower's present journey to South America and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's present tour of Southern Asia.

Just ask yourself how much attention you've been paying to the day-by-day stories about both men and particularly how much, of all they have said in all their speeches, have you read or even wanted to read.

The answer is probably: not much. And, if this is true in your case, there are three handy reasons:

1. Since they're both on a selling campaign—trying to win good will for their own countries—they are not going to say anything which angers or alienates their hosts. That makes for unexciting speeches.

2. Since both men are going to meet in a May summit conference, neither is likely to say anything so inflammatory it could be interpreted as a deliberate effort to wreck the conference before it starts.

3. We happen to be in a relatively quiet interval which began with the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting in the United States in 1959 and will almost certainly extend to the time when the two men face each other again at Paris.

Until they met here last year there had been steadily mounting tension over Berlin—a tension deliberately created by Khrushchev—but he took the heat off and the world returned to calm, waiting to see what Paris produced. Khrushchev on his current tour is speaking out again about Berlin, but he hasn't yet returned to threats or ultimatums and isn't likely to before the summit meeting.

So it's no wonder there has been little or no excitement in anything either man has said.

Something else seems to have happened, too.

There was tremendous interest in Khrushchev's trip to this country and in Eisenhower's trip later in 1959 to Europe, Asia, and North Africa. But this second go-round of trips by both men has taken the edge off their expeditions, in this country, at least.

This is a curious development in international dealings when it is remembered that a tour of nations by an American president or a Soviet premier was unheard of just a short time ago.

Odd Facts

The "cow tree" or "milk tree" is the popular name given to several species of tree found in South and Central America. They get their name from the fact that when the trunks or branches are cut, a large quantity of white milk-like sap exudes. This "milk" is sweet and palatable, as well as nourishing, and the natives of northern South America have used it for food from time immemorial.

The United States has lost its capital city twice. Philadelphia, the capital during the revolution, was occupied by Gen. Howe in 1777-78 and in the War of 1812, Washington was taken by the British.

They even send their disciples to special schools to learn how to tie an opponent in knots with obscure reasoning and circumlocution.

In their mouths, black becomes white, white becomes black and gray turns into a spectrum of overlapping half-truths and falsehoods.

Every modern nation has had reason to complain about this Russian expertness in dialectics. It was the first place where Marxists stole a march on their opponents. A word gap existed long before a missile gap, and to this day a Russian diplomat can outtalk and out-becloud an opponent with one tonsil tied behind him.

But to keep the Russians from getting the idea they are best in everything under the sun — Winter Olympics, the education of children, borsch, missileering, folk dancing and issue becloudment —, whoever is in charge of the cultural exchange program for the United States should invite all Russians now properly in this country to take in the Senate filibuster.

HERE IS BECLOUDMENT that would stagger a United Nations delegate in the U.S.S.R. slot in a Security Council debate. Here is the art of obfuscation brought to polysyllabic perfection.

In the Congressional Record of Monday, Feb. 29, the day the Senate went into 24-hour session, even the Government Printing Office got so confused it mixed up the pages. The mixup did not detract from the general impression of this document during a filibuster.

It is the finest bedtime reading ever put on paper. Speeches signifying nothing but the consumption of the time required to enunciate them go on for pages at a time. They are interspersed with long quibbles between time-killing debaters over thin issues of parliamentary procedure.

Occasionally, there will be a spate of serious business, or a reminder by a conscience-stricken legislator that this, sir, is the United States Senate and don't let anyone forget that, no sir.

A CONSCIENTIOUS reader who can keep his eyes open as they sweep back and forth across the barren plains of wordage will find here and there the words "civil rights," to reassure him that he is still close to the main trail; that the debate has not run entirely off the beaten path.

We think a Russian visitor would have to concede that here is twaddle and prolixity that would have done credit to the late Andrei Vishinsky, the Communist lawyer who set the all-time pace for getting listeners so mixed up they couldn't even disagree with him, for fear he might be talking about something else.

In a backward kind of way, the United States finally is doing something so outstanding that no one need have any fear of being outdistanced by Russia. It holds the world championship in dispute, but it must step aside in filibustering.

That's where the United States shines.

Time Will Tell

Samuel Hayes has obtained what could be called a new lease on life as a patrolman with the East Liverpool police department.

Originally suspended for a year, he now will return to duty March 16 under reconsideration of the original order by Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver. The director acted after Patrolman Hayes took steps to correct the situations which led to his suspension.

The decision will prove a wise one if Hayes "has learned his lesson", as he says.

The decision will prove a wise one if it doesn't foster a feeling of general carelessness among others on the force.

The decision will prove a wise one if it doesn't tend to lower the general morale of the department.

These are considerations that can't be ignored in cases such as that of Patrolman Hayes. The department standards have been improving constantly the last few years. Nothing should be done to retard such improvement.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Just heard of a revolt in razing the famed Ebbets Field, once home of Brooklyn Bums. A bulldozer operator who had long been a Brooklyn rooter, boy and man, leaped from his machine and screamed, "Busher!" at it and added, "What have ya got? I'm benching you."

"I got a wife and kids," he told us. "I'm a bulldozer and steam shovel operator and when I got assigned to Ebbets Field I did my best for a few days. But as a loyal fan I kept thinking it was sacrilegious, vandalism, dirty work, mayhem, and plain murder.

It was like fighting shadows and blitzing memories. Every time I bowled something over or shoveled it up I could hear boos from guys like Dazzy Vance, Babe Herman and Zach Wheat.

"Taking a turn on a steam shovel, I imagined I saw Carl Furillo and the Simp-Phoney Band climbing out of the shovel and coming at me with fists flying. The guy who handles two-ton iron ball tells me that when he dropped it on the dugout roof he saw the ghost of Uncle Robbie try to fling it back at him."

The boss tried to get our rebel friend to go back on the job, but no dice.

"Once a Dodger fan always a Dodger fan. I would as soon of been told to tear down a church or a hospital. It was plain sabotage," he sobbed. His case was as sad as that of a Dodger loyal rooter who shot his wife last week. She had told him she wanted a flat between first and second base.

"I'm moving away so I won't ever see Ebbets Field when the apartments go up," said the bulldozer rebel. "I could never stand seeing a baby-sitter around shortstop or hear a mother crooning lullabies on the spot where Leo Durocher once slugged it out with an umpire.

"And can you imagine hearing fireside words like 'Do you love me?' coming from the region where 'Throw the bum out, 'Thief' and 'Robber' used to rule!"

To The Finish!

A Basis For United Action

By Victor Riesel

On Feb. 17, a letter of considerable importance—to the nation—was dropped into a Washington mail box. It was addressed to Robert F. Kennedy.

Victor Riesel

On that day, as on the few previous days, the members of the Senate racket probing committee were going over the proofs of their series of final reports.

They found that a "second government" exists in the United States. Certainly it exists if the arson, the terror, the extortion, the mayhem, the pillaging of union funds, the brutal beating of men, the destruction of private property and the sheer disdain for our own government's law and order are accurately recorded in those final reports.

Those crimes, that looting, that desecration of American labor and managment were disclosed under the questioning of chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy.

If Mr. Kennedy handled three years of committee probing with fairness and equal rights to all, then the second government exists and still must be fought.

It is, therefore, important to appraise Robert Kennedy's conduct of the Senate inquiry into the iniquity of the underworld's hold on some unions and some management.

That handling was appraised in the letter which was mailed to Kennedy on Feb. 17.

THE LETTER was written by Arthur Goldberg, special counsel to the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. Therefore, there could be no severer critic. This is what Goldberg wrote, which can now be published for the first time:

"Dear Bob: I want to thank you very much for your kindness in sending me a copy of your book, "The Enemy Within."

"The publication of your book, which I have read with great interest and which I have found to be readable, provocative and informative, affords me a welcome opportunity to express to you my views concerning your work as counsel to the Select Committee on Improper Practices in the Labor or Management Field.

"As you accurately report in your book, you and I first became acquainted at the outset of the committee's work when we lunched together and shortly after at a subsequent lunch in the Senate dining room, together with Sen. McClellan and Mr. (George) Meany (president of the AFL-CIO).

"At our first meeting you told me in straightforward terms that in your capacity as counsel for the committee, you intended to carry on the committee's work in a fair and impartial manner and without any bias, fear or favor.

"I think it appropriate to say that throughout the entire course of the conduct of the committee's activities, you never departed from this statement of your objectives.

"I followed your work throughout and am aware of no instance where any legitimate, honest labor leader or labor organization had any cause for complaint because of your conduct as counsel of the committee's affairs.

"I think you have every reason to be proud of your outstanding work on behalf of the committee and of the contribution that you have made to decent, honest, democratic American trade unionism.

"With kindest personal regards, I am,

"Yours cordially,
"Arthur."

THIS LETTER says, in effect, that labor's most distinguished attorney believes that the McClellan committee hearings never were conducted so they'd harm a clean union. It also reveals for the first time that Sen. McClellan and Robert Kennedy did consult with the president of the AFL-CIO.

Therefore, at no one time was the hearing even remotely anti-labor — simply anti the rackets which had infiltrated and seized some unions. These were then used as a base for power to aid the mobsters who had infiltrated industry by setting up their own firms.

Thus the underworld was able to put legitimate labor and business in a vise.

Therefore, the McClellan committee reports should become the basis for action all across the land.

Test For Taft-Hartley

By Raymond Moley

We shall now see whether James Hoffa and his merry men can again wriggle out of a legal net. Also, we shall see whether the Department of Justice really intends to enforce the provisions in the Taft-Hartley legislation dealing with labor unions' political activities.

Two locals of the Teamsters together with six officials of the locals of the Teamsters are involved.

The individuals named in a 22-count indictment in St. Louis include Harold J. Gibbons, who has been prominently in the news because of his extensive appearances before the McClellan committee.

He is a vice president of the national union as well as an officer of the local which generally directs the operations of the Teamsters in St. Louis. He is also administrative assistant to Hoffa.

ANOTHER OFFICIAL named is Sidney Zagri, legislative counsel for the international organization.

The alleged beneficiaries of alleged contributions are Sens. Hennings and Morse, Reps. James Roosevelt, Henry Reuss of Wisconsin, and two Missouri candidates for the House who failed of election. These contributions were made for primaries in 1956.

Hennings, Morse, Roosevelt and Reuss have stated since the indictment that they presumed the contributions were from funds voluntarily subscribed by members of the unions.

The law allegedly violated is Sec. 610 of Title 18 of the United States Code. It was included in the Taft-Hartley legislation.

In substance, the law is an addition to legislation passed in 1907 forbidding contributions to campaigns for federal offices by corporations. The Taft-Hartley legislation put labor organizations under the same prohibition.

It should be pointed out that unions quit generally collect voluntary contributions from members for political purposes. But the provisions of the law prohibit contributions from the general funds of unions, which are made up of dues collected from all members.

In the 22-count indictment in St. Louis it is charged that the contributions "were derived substantially or entirely from the dues payments made by members" for the "general purposes" of the union.

THIS SECTION of the law was invoked against the United Automobile Workers for something that happened in the 1954 campaign. An indictment was secured which the federal district judge in Michigan dismissed.

When it was carried to the Supreme Court, the indictment was reinstated and Justice Frankfurter delivered a lengthy opinion concerning the history of the legislation and its importance.

He said: "What is involved here is the integrity of the electoral process and not less, the responsibility of the individual citizen for the successful functioning of that process. This case thus raises issues not less than basic to a democratic society."

However, when the case was tried before the same judge who had dismissed the indictment, there was an acquittal. The Justice Department then seemed to regard the statute as a dead letter.

The facts in the Teamsters case seem much more substantial than in the UAW case. In that instance, what was involved was payment by the union for a radio broadcast on which a candidate appeared. There was no direct monetary contribution involved.

In the present case the alleged facts go straight to the heart of the matter.

The question is whether a union member's money, which he contributes as dues for the general purposes of the union, can be used to support political candidates whom he may or may not favor.

In short, the alleged offense is the injustice of using money contributed for another purpose to support a candidate repugnant to the contributor and without his express permission.

Civil Rights Hypocrisy

By David Lawrence

Some Background On Present Debate

Resentment, hypocrisy, deep-seated antagonisms, political selfishness — all these are part of the background of what is being called a civil rights debate in the United States Senate.

David Lawrence

Little is apparent of the feeling that disputes can better be resolved if a conciliatory spirit prevails. Instead, friction and bitterness are being engendered daily — indeed, it is actually promoted as a means of getting publicity.

The "sit down" demonstrations in the South, for instance, are regrettable evidences of the mistaken theory that progress in a controversy can be made by stirring up more and more hostility between the groups involved.

Even many of those citizens who not so long ago were crying out for "law and order" seem strangely silent when Negro and white demonstrators enter private business establishments and refuse to leave seats pre-empted by them in the restaurants until ousted forcibly.

Reports from the South are that many people who enter the stores and see the demonstrators are beginning to send unfriendly glances toward all Negroes they see. This is the way bad feeling is spread and violence provoked.

One wonders whether the instigators of the "sit down" stunts have taken into account the damage to race relations which has already been done by the demonstrations in the restaurants and lunch rooms.

THE DEBATE in the Senate is supposedly over voting rights. This is not the basic issue. For the South does recognize the right of a qualified citizen to vote. The controversy is over the method that shall be used to determine whether a voter is qualified.

The theory is advanced by Northern proponents of so-called civil rights legislation that the federal government shall police the registration of voters — hitherto predominantly a state function.

In the North as well as the South, literacy tests are required and in some states property must be owned as a qualification for voting.

The 15th Amendment to the Constitution says that the right of citizens to vote shall not be abridged because of "race or color." This amendment was declared ratified in 1870 but the legislatures of states like California, Delaware and New Jersey rejected it. Even New York State, after first voting to ratify, then voted to rescind its ratification.

There is a moral question, too, as to whether the amendment was really ratified by the will of the people's elected representatives in three-fourths of the state legislatures for in the South the legislatures were dominated by military forces sent there by the federal government after the war was over. Ratification of amendments to the Constitution was compelled, in some instances, at the point of the bayonet.

THE SOUTH hasn't forgotten all this. Many of the wounds of those days were healed in part by the 1896 decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. It approved the many state Supreme Court decisions of the previous 25 years, including those in New York and Ohio, which upheld the principle of "separate but equal" facilities for education.

Now that the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court of the United States has completely upset the 1896 ruling, the South feels it has been mistreated all along the line, beginning with the forced acceptance of the amendments to the Constitution by illegal legislatures in the years following the War Between the States.

The Southern senators know they are outnumbered. But they wouldn't be true to the sentiments of their constituents if they didn't use every proper occasion to debate the issues.

Extremists on both sides are beclouding the issues. The controversy is being used to gain votes in the North for so-called champions of civil rights but hypocrisy is evident because protection for the citizen in his right to cross a picket line in a labor dispute is ignored.

There apparently will be no legislation on that phase of civil rights.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? A significant statement was recently made in a new book written by W. D. Workman Jr., of Columbia, S.C., a veteran of World War II, whose newspaper and magazine writings have brought him civic, industrial, agricultural and military awards in addition to some in the field of journalism. His book is entitled "The Case for the South," and he writes:

"Short of utter amalgamation of the races, a thing utterly unacceptable to white Southerners, there is no solution to the problem of race relations: There can only be a continual adjustment and readjustment of relationships.

"The sense of race, no less than those of religion or of nationality, is so deeply embedded in man's nature — both conscious and unconscious — that it cannot be eradicated in the foreseeable future, if indeed it should be eradicated.

"Some persons, whose impulses can be regulated or whose incentives can be manipulated, may rise above or descend below, race consciousness but the masses are not likely ever to shed their recognition of race.

"Whatever may be the future of race relations in America, this much seems evident: That neither satisfaction nor peace can come from any coercive mingling of the white and black races against the will of either and that little hope can be entertained for any assimilation of one in the other.

"There remains, then, only the prospect of accommodating their differences in a pattern of peaceful co-existence based upon a friendly tolerance and helpful understanding.

"It is the recognition of racial distinctions, not their denial, which will lessen the tensions and enhance their adjustment."

A Test For The Tours

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

You can run your own test on how much interest you have in President Eisenhower's present journey to South America and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's present tour of Southern Asia.

Just ask yourself how much attention you've been paying to the day-by-day stories about both men and particularly how much, of all they have said in all their speeches, have you read or even wanted to read.

The answer is probably: not much. And, if this is true in your case, there are three handy reasons:

1. Since they're both on a selling campaign—trying to win good will for their own countries—they are not going to say anything which angers or alienates their hosts. That makes for unexciting speeches.

2. Since both men are going to meet in a May summit conference, neither is likely to say anything so inflammatory it could be interpreted as a deliberate effort to wreck the conference before it starts.

3. We happen to be in a relatively quiet interval which began with the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting in the United States in 1959 and will almost certainly extend to the time when the two men face each other again at Paris.

Until they met here last year there had been steadily mounting tension over Berlin—a tension deliberately created by Khrushchev—but he took the heat off and the world returned to calm, waiting to see what Paris produced. Khrushchev on his current tour is speaking out again about Berlin, but he hasn't yet returned to threats or ultimatums and isn't likely to before the summit meeting.

So it's no wonder there has been little or no excitement in anything either man has said.

Something else seems to have happened, too.

There was tremendous interest in Khrushchev's trip to this country and in Eisenhower's trip later in 1959 to Europe, Asia, and North Africa. But this second go-round of trips by both men has taken the edge off their expeditions, in this country, at least.

This is a curious development in international dealings when it is remembered that a tour of nations by an American president or a Soviet premier was unheard of just a short time ago.

Odd Facts

The "cow tree" or "milk tree" is the popular name given to several species of tree found in South and Central America. They get their name from the fact that when the trunks or branches are cut, a large quantity of white milk-like sap exudes. This "milk" is sweet and palatable, as well as nourishing, and the natives of northern South America have used it for food from time immemorial.

The United States has lost its capital city twice. Philadelphia, the capital during the revolution, was occupied by Gen. Howe in 1777-78 and in the War of 1812, Washington was taken by the British.

Pope Selects 7 Prelates To Be Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today designated seven prelates of the Roman Catholic church to be cardinals. They included the first Negro, the first Japanese and the first Filipino ever elevated to the College of Cardinals.

Their elevation will bring the membership of the church's highest body to a total of 85, the largest in history.

The others chosen by the Pope were two Italians, a Frenchman and a Dutch prelate.

The Negro to be elevated is Bishop Laurian Rugambwa of Rutabo, Tanganyika, in East Africa.

The Japanese is Archbishop Peter Tatsuo Doi of Tokyo. Archbishop Rufino J. Santos of Manila is the Filipino.

The others honored by the Pontiff are Archbishop Bernard Jan Alfrink of Utrecht, Holland; Archbishop Joseph Lefebvre of Bourges, France, and the Most Rev. Luigi Traglia and the Most Rev. Antonio Bacci, both Italian members of the Vatican Curia.

They will be elevated to the purple at a pre-Easter consistory to be held on March 28.

It will be the third such consistory Pope John has called since he became supreme ruler of the church 16 months ago. Each time he has enlarged the college, underlining his determination to bolster the high senate of the church to meet modern problems and to reflect the great growth of the church in recent years.

Previously the College of Cardinal had been limited to 70 members for more than 350 years.

In making his latest cardinal selections, Pope John continued a practice he set earlier of elevating comparatively younger church officials to the college.

Bishop Rugambwa is 47, and Archbishop Santos is 51. Archbishop Alfrink is 59, Archbishops Doi and Lefebvre both 67, and the Most Revs. Traglia and Bacci both 64.

The college now has 31 Italians and 47 prelates from other countries. After the new consistory it will have 33 Italians and 52 non-Italians.

Naming of a cardinal for the Philippines, whose population is almost solidly Catholic, and of the first native Negro cardinal in Africa, where the church has expanded enormously in recent years, did not come as a surprise.

But the naming of a Japanese cardinal was a surprise and injected new interest in the colorful ceremonies that will see the elevation of the princes of the church. Japan's Catholic population is small, and Tokyo, of which the new cardinal is archbishop, has only about 37,000 Catholics.

The nomination of a Japanese cardinal was considered by Vatican sources to indicate the importance that Pope John attaches to the church in the Far East.

Ohio Health Dept. Joins Groups In Fight Against TB

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Health Department is joining other governmental and private health agencies in an attempt to virtually wipe out tuberculosis.

In 1958, the last year for which complete records are available, there were 550 tuberculosis deaths in Ohio, and 4,410 new cases reported. Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, director of the Health Department, said today that the disease still represents "quite a considerable problem" in Ohio.

Dwork said the nationwide anti-tuberculosis campaign was set up at a joint conference of the U.S. Public Health Service and National Tuberculosis Assn. in New York late last year. Drug treatments will be the weapon, he explained.

The director conceded that the disease might become resistant to some drugs unless the drug therapy knockout punch is delivered relatively swiftly, but added: "Nobody can predict for sure."

Calling it a "tremendous responsibility," Dwork said he will name an advisory committee of private and public health officials to assist the department in advising local health officials, who actually will carry out the program in Ohio.

Pope Selects 7 Prelates To Be Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today designated seven prelates of the Roman Catholic church to be cardinals. They included the first Negro, the first Japanese and the first Filipino ever elevated to the College of Cardinals.

Their elevation will bring the membership of the church's highest body to a total of 85, the largest in history.

The others chosen by the Pope were two Italians, a Frenchman and a Dutch prelate.

The Negro to be elevated is Bishop Laurian Rugambwa of Rutabo, Tanganyika, in East Africa.

The Japanese is Archbishop Peter Tatsuo Doi of Tokyo. Archbishop Rufino J. Santos of Manila is the Filipino.

The others honored by the Pontiff are Archbishop Bernard Jan Alfrink of Utrecht, Holland; Archbishop Joseph Lefebvre of Bourges, France, and the Most Rev. Luigi Traglia and the Most Rev. Antonio Bacci, both Italian members of the Vatican Curia.

They will be elevated to the purple at a pre-Easter consistory to be held on March 28.

It will be the third such consistory Pope John has called since he became supreme ruler of the church 16 months ago. Each time he has enlarged the college, underlining his determination to bolster the high senate of the church to meet modern problems and to reflect the great growth of the church in recent years.

Previously the College of Cardinal had been limited to 70 members for more than 350 years.

In making his latest cardinal selections, Pope John continued a practice he set earlier of elevating comparatively younger church officials to the college.

Bishop Rugambwa is 47, and Archbishop Santos is 51. Archbishop Alfrink is 59, Archbishops Doi and Lefebvre both 67, and the Most Revs. Traglia and Bacci both 64.

The college now has 31 Italians and 47 prelates from other countries. After the new consistory it will have 33 Italians and 52 non-Italians.

Naming of a cardinal for the Philippines, whose population is almost solidly Catholic, and of the first native Negro cardinal in Africa, where the church has expanded enormously in recent years, did not come as a surprise.

But the naming of a Japanese cardinal was a surprise and injected new interest in the colorful ceremonies that will see the elevation of the princes of the church. Japan's Catholic population is small, and Tokyo, of which the new cardinal is archbishop, has only about 37,000 Catholics.

The nomination of a Japanese cardinal was considered by Vatican sources to indicate the importance that Pope John attaches to the church in the Far East.

Ohio Health Dept. Joins Groups In Fight Against TB

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Health Department is joining other governmental and private health agencies in an attempt to virtually wipe out tuberculosis.

In 1958, the last year for which complete records are available, there were 550 tuberculosis deaths in Ohio, and 4,410 new cases reported. Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, director of the Health Department, said today that the disease still represents "quite a considerable problem" in Ohio.

Dwork said the nationwide anti-tuberculosis campaign was set up at a joint conference of the U.S. Public Health Service and National Tuberculosis Assn. in New York late last year. Drug treatments will be the weapon, he explained.

The director conceded that the disease might become resistant to some drugs unless the drug therapy knockout punch is delivered relatively swiftly, but added: "Nobody can predict for sure."

Calling it a "tremendous responsibility," Dwork said he will name an advisory committee of private and public health officials to assist the department in advising local health officials, who actually will carry out the program in Ohio.

Red Cross campaign officials took time out from drive activities today to praise five members of the local Junior Red Cross unit who, in recent weeks, devoted from 40 to 50 hours volunteer work preparing for the current campaign.

The five, left to right, are Patty Mick of St. Aloysius School, Carol Jack of Westgate Junior High, Vicky Deshler of Westgate, Barbara Eddy of St. Aloysius and Janet Pepin of East Liverpool High School.

Their volunteer work, which was completed under the direction of Mrs. F. D. Irwin, chairman of the local Junior Red Cross, shown here with the girls, consisted of sorting and packaging more than 5,000 pieces of literature, pledge cards, report sheets, etc., into approximately 800 campaign workers' kits being used in the fund drive.

In saluting the youngsters for their aid, Campaign Chairman James Locke pointed out that "we must remember that this, too, is a Red Cross service which is made available in this area through our once-a-year gifts. Nearly 150 Junior Red Cross members learned home nursing, swimming or first-aid through the chapter this year. And they participated in other activities, too. . .packing 145 gift boxes for overseas youngsters. And here at home, Junior Red Cross placed complete first-aid kits in all our school buildings. These are activities and young people of whom we can all be proud. Most certainly they deserve the support and praise of every adult. Junior Red Cross work is a perfect example of this year's campaign slogan, "Good things happen when you give."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Tell Child Matches Can Be Dangerous

While they are alone, children, four to six or eight, may not play with matches, but might do so when together and unsupervised.

By Garry Meyer.

A Wisconsin mother writes: "I have three children, eight, five and two. The middle child is the problem. "Last week the children saw a fire prevention film in school. "Yesterday a friend of mine told me that her boy and my daughter went into her basement, climbed on a chair and burned matches, almost a whole box of the bigger kind. Believe me, I was speechless. My older daughter never struck a match, nor has the younger one to my knowledge. The friend told me that it happened last year but no one ever said anything to me.

"SHE TOLD me that if a lighted match fascinates the child it means trouble.

"The only time matches fascinate my daughter is when we have lighted candles on a birthday cake or a lighted match that she can blow out. The friend said her boy doesn't bother with matches, but, believe me, he is very impulsive. Although he will go in the biggest rain puddle and get brand-new shoes wet, he just gets a scolding.

"Another time, sitting on the stairs with his cat, he was watching an automatic clothes washer—a sudden urge and the cat was in the machine for ten minutes.

"If he so impulsive, maybe he got the matches and told my daughter to strike them.

—:—

"WHAT SHOULD I do? How can I teach her that matches are very dangerous? We have the matches on the shelf but she never touches them. That is why I can't believe that she plays with them. If she deserves any punishment, she will get it."

My reply, in part:

I am sure it would be very unwise to question your child now about the matches, since it happened so long ago. I would say nothing about it. One wonders why that neighbor didn't paddle both those children at once or tell you about it immediately.

It would seem wise for you to make sure those kids aren't together at home, or out of sight of a responsible adult for the next year or so. It might be well to interest your child in playing with some other children.

—:—

WHEN THE occasion arises in normal experiences, casually explain why we must be careful with matches, and why we should never play with matches or with fire or cigarette lighters and the like.

Meanwhile, try to have good times with her and make her feel worthwhile in the family.

My bulletins, "Stubborness" and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Storms

National guardsmen were called for emergency duty in Calhoun, a city of about 7,000 in northwest Georgia, which was without power or telephone service. A state of emergency was declared in a residential area of Huntsville, Ala., where the mayor said it was impossible to maintain utility service. Nearly 2,000 residents of outlying sections of Gadsen, Ala., were forced to leave their homes after ice storms broke power lines supplying their houses.

Florida was out of the stormy weather picture, with clear skies and temperatures in the 60-70 plus degree range.

Eight inches of snow fell in Kansas City, making a covering of 13 inches on the ground. All of the city's schools and libraries were closed today.

A heavy ice storm hit Atlanta, virtually halting travel for a time. The Georgia Highway Patrol said there was no highway travel west, north or east of Atlanta, cutting off the state entirely by land from Tennessee, South Carolina and parts of Alabama.

Illinois Family Of 5 Dies From Gas Fumes

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A family of five was found dead in their gas fume-filled home in nearby Georgetown Wednesday night and police said they apparently were asphyxiated.

The dead were Ronald Pearson, 29; his wife, Shirley, 26, and their children: Bonnie Sue, 7, Ronald Jr., 4, and Sherry, 2. They last were seen alive Monday night.

The cheers of millions along the way through Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay kept Eisenhower smiling and in high spirits from the minute he reached South America on his historic goodwill mission 10 days ago.

Shrugging off the only hostile display that amounted to anything, in Montevideo Wednesday, he told Uruguayan President Benito Nardone that the jeers of leftist students did not bother him a bit.

The acrid fumes of tear gas fired by police at one group of demonstrators brought tears to Eisenhower's eyes, and spray from disciplinary fire hoses blew across the path of his open car, but he was not ruffled.

The President coughed slightly for a moment. He sat down in his bubbletop car, wiped his eyes and within a minute jumped to his feet, again waving greetings to the enthusiastic crowds — estimated at 400,000 — who drowned out the two small groups of hecklers.

The President's doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, examined Eisenhower's eyes after the tear gas episode and reported no injury.

After his speech to the Uruguayan Congress, Eisenhower's car took an unannounced detour to avoid the areas where trouble had erupted.

U.S. Secret Service agents, who had their fingers crossed when the President left Washington Feb. 22 on his 15,560-mile trip, breathed a sigh of relief that the tour went off without any major trouble.

But everywhere the President brought out the biggest crowds that South America has ever seen, and the roars of "Welcome Ike" drowned out the few shrill cries against the United States.

And everywhere he sounded the same theme—the friendship of the United States for her neighbors.

Eisenhower made no specific commitments of additional financial help, but he pledged to work with the hard - pressed Latin-American countries to raise living standards in the Americas.

He stressed the traditional United States policy of noninterference in the internal affairs of other countries. In an implied warning to the Soviet Union, he promised to defend the right of the Latin Americans to choose their own governments without outside interference.

Israeli Patrol Kills Arab And Wounds 2

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The army said an Israeli patrol ran into three armed Arab infiltrators Wednesday east of the Gaza Strip, killed one and wounded another in an exchange of gunfire.

The army claimed the three Arabs carried submachine guns and had penetrated 6.2 miles into Israeli territory. Israel filed a complaint with the U. N. Emergency Force assigned to keep the truce along the border.

Civil Rights

ing a home-grown solution for Negro voting rights in Florida.

A quorum call after Smathers' speech kept things quiet for 33 minutes, and Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) took over at 7:18.

By that time some of the senators on quorum call apparently were getting hardened to it. At any rate, their average appearance was a bit more spruce and alert than on earlier roundups.

Long, son of the late filibustering Huey P. Long, spoke for 9 hours and 21 minutes before yielding the floor early today. With a 75-minute break for other Senate speeches, he held the floor from 1:32 p.m. Wednesday until 12:38 a.m. today. His stint included a solid stretch of 8 hours and 23 minutes.

During part of Long's talk, Johnson could be observed in the chamber with the rough draft beginnings of a compromise bill. He mixed earnest conversation with Democratic civil rights supporters.

Some of them reported afterward Johnson had undertaken a drive to find a measure which can win the necessary two-thirds vote of the Senate to limit debate and end the filibuster should that step be necessary.

These senators said Johnson emphasized he was exploring the prospects for bringing out a substitute measure centered around provisions for court-appointed referees to help guard Negro voting rights, and fixing penalties for hate bombings of schools and churches.

Inviting Democratic suggestions, Johnson was looking into a proposal that would drop some other provisions of the administration program introduced by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader.

Dirksen meanwhile undertook separate explorations which carried over into a scheduled midday meeting of all 35 Republicans today.

One question likely to be discussed is whether to try to get a two-thirds Senate vote to halt the marathon legislative battle and, if so, when.

Both leaders were reportedly aware of the difficulty of getting such a vote to pass the seven-point Dirksen bill now pending in the Senate.

They are exploring the possibilities of eliminating some of the provisions which have brought bitterest Southern opposition.

East Firemen Appoint Charles Adams In Post

Charles Adams was named sick and flower chairman at a meeting of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

Adams will replace James Barton, who resigned because he is entering the Army. Robert Badger, assistant chief, announced a training session on resuscitation will be held Wednesday night at 7:30.

Ed Burns, president, conducted business. Refreshments were served 23 by Arthur Glasure and Dewain Glasure.

May 2 Is Set As Death Date For Chessman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Caryl Chessman's new appointment with the gas chamber is May 2.

Superior Judge Clement D. Nye set the date Wednesday for the condemned sex terrorist over the vigorous objections of Chessman's attorneys. The lawyers claimed a new execution date could not be set until a 60-day reprieve, granted Feb. 19, by Gov. Edmund G. Brown has expired. Nye said sentence is legal because the new execution date is after the end of the 60-day period.

In San Quentin, were Chessman has eluded execution for 11½ years with a series of court appeals, the convict - author commented: "It doesn't look as if I'll reach the age of Jack Benny."

The famed comedian, who is 66, for years has jokingly claimed he is 39. Chessman will be 39 May 27.

Patrol Auxiliary Sets State Meeting Plans

About 30 attended a meeting of the Columbiana County State Highway Patrol Auxiliary Wednesday night at the barracks at Lisbon with Capt. James Martin in charge.

Plans were made for members to attend the state auxiliary convention at Columbus March 12-13. About 20 are expected to attend.

Patrolman Walter Jones discussed recent revisions and changes in patrol and auxiliary regulations. The annual inspection will be held April 6 at the barracks.

Snowstorm's Total May Be 8-10 Inches

All Wellsville city schools are closed. Supt. S. E. Daw said he first planned to open the city buildings and keep Fairview at Hillcrest closed but this was changed after the weather report was received. All bus drivers were ordered early this morning not to make any runs.

The Immaculate Conception Parochial School opened for classes. Fr. John Lyons said school would be dismissed if the weather worsened and warranted closing.

Beaver Local school officials said it has not been decided if the district's 2,100 students will return to classes tomorrow.

George VanHorne, executive head, said if the snow continues, it is doubtful if the roads will be passable in some areas tomorrow, but students would be notified.

VanHorne said he ordered classes suspended today after checking highways and consulting bus drivers before 7 a. m.

Classes were being held at East Palestine, with attendance nearly normal for this time of the year, but many buses were late because of snow - covered roads, officials said.

Schools at Salem, Leetonia and Columbiana were open this morning, but officials were uncertain if classes would be held all day.

Some indicated school may be dismissed early to enable students to get home before roads become impassable.

Lisbon schools were also closed for today and Friday.

Hancock School Supt. Robert Hall said school children transported by bus probably will be started home about noon. Some pupils in the Weirton area were sent home shortly after their arrival this morning, he added.

Attendance at some schools was down 30 to 40 per cent, he said, chiefly because the school buses were tied up in traffic. It was particularly true in the Weirton area, Supt. Hall said, but added most buses arriving at Chester and Newell schools were close to schedule.

Midland public and parochial schools, the Western Beaver County School District in Ohio Township and Industry Borough and those of the South Side Joint Schools near Hookstown remained open today.

South Side schools reported that buses were running late and that only 6 of 19 runs had been made by 8:30 a. m. School was being held for those students who could get there.

Most buses of the Western Beaver County district, carrying students to Midland High School, were running late, the high school reported.

In East Liverpool, street department crews worked most of the night spreading ashes and salt, but much of their early effort was to no avail as the snow continued to pile up.

Two graders were put to work early this morning to clear the heavy accumulation from main thoroughfares. The Lisbon St. Hill had been scraped clear of the heavy snow before 8 this morning and another grader was moving along the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

After the graders passed, street department trucks spread ashes and salt to give autos traction on the thin coating of snow that remained.

Wellsville's street crews were called out at midnight and have been working steadily since, Safety - Service Director William S. Robinson said. All available men have been put to work to help keep the streets open.

Robinson said it started snowing in the city at 11:15 p. m. Wednesday but employes at the filtration plant off the old Salineville Rd. said it didn't start there until 15 minutes later.

Robinson said he is keeping the city trucks moving along the main thoroughfares and intersections to break up the drifts.

In Chester, a number of tractor-trailer trucks and other rigs were lined up at the curb on Carolina Ave. near the foot of the Route 30 hill, waiting for road conditions to improve.

A Jeep with blade scraper was being used by a city crew to keep Chester streets cleared. Traffic on Route 30 through Chester was reported light.

Midland police reported traffic moving slowly and street department crews were out all night and today cindering. Crews continued work on the Midland Heights hill road to keep it open.

EAST PALESTINE — Street crews were busy this morning but a spokesman said they are "unable to keep up with the snow." Streets were hazardous, but traffic was moving it was reported.

Salineville Adopts Partial Emergency

SALINEVILLE — A semi-official state of emergency was declared by Mayor Kenneth Leishman this morning in an effort to get parked autos off snow-clogged Main St. to expedite clearing of the roadway.

Leishman said Street Supervisor Roy Beckwith and three helpers were battling snow but were being handicapped by cars at the curb.

He ordered all motorists to remove cars, saying the roadway, still passable, was becoming clogged and threatened with jamming unless the narrow street is cleared.

Schools at Salineville and elsewhere in Southern Local School District were closed today.

Palestine Woman Injured At Newell

An East Palestine area woman was injured critically Wednesday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger plunged into the entrance of the Wells High School athletic field in Newell as the driver attempted to avoid a collision.

Mrs. Elizabeth Riddle, 60, of Enon Valley remains in "critical" condition at City Hospital. Hospital officials said she had "a poor night."

Mrs. Riddle suffered a possible fracture of the left knee and multiple lacerations of the face, mouth and left knee in the crash which also injured Albert L. Forney, 70, of the Unity Rd., East Palestine, who was driving the 1957 Jaguar four-door sedan.

Forney was cited by Hancock Deputy Sheriff Edward Frankovitch for reckless driving and driving on an expired license.

He pleaded guilty to both charges at a hearing last night before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester. Forney was fined $25 and costs for reckless driving and $10 and costs for no operator's license.

Deputy sheriffs said Forney was headed south on Washington St. at 3:50 p. m. and was preparing to pass another vehicle.

He told deputies the other vehicle started to turn and he swerved to avoid a collision.

The small sports car plunged over the sidewalk and crashed head on into a brick bannister at the steps leading into the athletic field.

Deputies said the mishap occurred only 15 minutes before school was dismissed. School buses load directly across the street from the accident.

Because of the mishap, children were kept in the building until Mrs. Riddle and Forney could be taken to the hospital.

Deputies said the Jaguar was a total loss, estimated damage at $4,000. In addition, the damage to the bannister was estimated between $300 and $500.

Slippery Pavements Blamed In 2 Mishaps

Slippery pavements were blamed for two East Liverpool traffic mishaps this morning.

A collision at St. Clair and Burrows Aves. at 7:12 damaged a 1953 two-door sedan driven by Dale A. Clunk, 41, of Meadow Rd. and a 1954 sedan operated by Merle W. Bartram, 56, of 403 Burrows Ave. Clunk was southbound on St. Clair when Bartram, pulling onto the thoroughfare from Burrows, was unable to halt, the drivers told police. The crash damaged the front of each car.

Mrs. Bessie M. Plumley, 52, of 336 E. 9th St. told police her auto was hit on E. 3rd St. at Walnut St. at 7:15 this morning by another auto that skidded on the Walnut St. grade. The second driver was not identified. The crash damaged the right rear fender and bumper of the Plumley auto, officers said.

Broker Admits Funds Theft Of $270,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A Wall Street broker with an expert knowledge of electronic business machines and a yen for gambling and high living has confessed all to the district attorney.

"All," according to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office, amounted to approximately $270,000, stolen over a period of eight years from Walston and Co., Inc., members of the New York Stock Exchange.

But Frank B. Haderer, 50, an $18,000-a-year Walston vice president, can be charged with only $170,000 of the thefts because of the statute of limitations.

Groups Clear Gift Of Land For Camp Site

Members of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge and FOP Associates voted Wednesday night to donate a 28-acre tract of ground at Rock Camp for establishment of a juvenile work camp, but explained a number of legal questions remain to be cleared before the actual transfer of the land can be made.

The tentative action was taken at a meeting in the headquarters of the two lodges in Diamond Alley following a discussion of the youth camp plan by its originator, Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Under his plan, a camp would be established to serve the 5 counties that comprise the 18th Congressional District—Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll.

Members of the two lodges said one question that remains to be cleared is a clause in the deed under which the ground would revert to the FOP and the FOPA if it ever ceased to be used for a juvenile camp. There also are other questions, such as selection of a name, they added.

The land fronts on Route 30 at Rock Camp in Madison Township. Purchased several years ago as a site for a summer youth camp, the tract has remained undeveloped. Part of the cost was furnished by proceeds from Old Home Week, a celebration sponsored each fall by the two lodges.

Other funds for the purchase came from sale of certificates in multiples of $25 to members of the two lodges. Old Home Week, Inc., is comprised of members of both lodges.

Judge Tobin proposed the idea for a juvenile work camp late in 1959. Since that time, several meetings have been held by the juvenile judges from the 5 counties, who endorsed the Columbiana County judge's proposal and decided to raise a fund to investigate further into such items as costs.

2,350 Quake Dead Laid In Mass Graves

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Rescue team officials said today 2,350 victims of the Agadir earthquakes have been buried in mass graves and that whole areas of the city remain to be searched.

As the figure was disclosed, Moroccan army troops sealed off the city. U.S. military teams and hundreds of French sailors deployed through the streets spraying rubble with disinfectant.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan ordered "all living souls to be evacuated from Agadir."

Moroccan government officials said they believed at least 5,000 persons were killed or injured when two massive earthquakes and a tidal wave wrecked the port city on the southern Moroccan coast Monday night.

An International Red Cross representative earlier had said he felt the figures would be 3,000 dead and 5,000 injured. But there was general agreement that no accurate count of the casualties would be possible.

Despite ceaseless rescue efforts since the quakes struck, some living were thought to be still trapped beneath the rubble of the shattered buildings.

The U.S. heavy cruiser Newport News arrived today with bulldozers and units of a U.S. Army Engineer battalion. They joined more than 1,600 sailors from a French naval squadron which arrived in the harbor Wednesday night after steaming at full speed from the Canary Islands.

In the fields outside the city shrouded bodies were thrown in mass graves and covered with quicklime.

A Roman Catholic priest said last rites over the European victims as surviving relatives stood alongside.

Rows of Moslems worked side by side, digging a long trench for 75 bodies awaiting burial. The hot weather and a lack of embalming facilities made haste necessary.

U.S. and French rescue planes roared overhead on mercy missions in and out of the French air base just outside the stricken city. The single runway was crowded with planes bringing in food, medicines and rescue equipment.

Probers Hunt For Cause Of Train Wreck

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Squads of investigators tried today to find what caused the collision of the Sante Fe Chief No. 2 streamliner, a San Francisco to Chicago passenger train, and a two-trailer truck rig loaded with 7,000 gallons of crude oil.

It happened at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday at the marked Austin Hageman road crossing on quiet San Joaquin Valley flatlands seven miles northwest of Bakersfield.

Fourteen persons died and 72 were injured in the crash and fire.

Of the 109 aboard—76 passengers and 33 crewmen—only 24 escaped injury. Of the injured, some seriously and a few critically, 44 remained hospitalized today.

Preserve Termed Water Plan Block

Several residents of Ohio Township attended a meeting of the Board of Supervisors Wednesday evening in the fire hall and voiced their opinion that the state game preserve on Route 168 is holding up prospects of a water system for the whole area.

They said that the state should sell parts of the preserve bordering both sides of the road. The supervisors said a solicitor will be hired to look into the matter. Nothing resulted from previous attempts, supervisors said.

Residents asked the board for aid and complained of unsanitary conditions of pollution of the stream in Cow Hollow and rats in that area.

Joe Kadilak, chairman, presided. Next meeting will be April 6.

'Posse' Of 100 Finds Boy In 4-Hour Hunt

Missing for almost 4 hours after alighting from a school bus near his home Wednesday afternoon, a 9-year-old Bloomfield boy was found safe, but chilled to the bone, after a search by 100 volunteer firemen, Civil Defense workers, neighbors and law enforcement officers.

James David Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Reese of the Bloomfield Rd., was found on an old strip mine area near his home, climaxing a disappearance that apparently started because he was fearful of going home without his school report card.

The alert was sounded about 6, bringing into the search members of the Calcutta and Glenmoor fire departments, a Civil Defense unit at Glenmoor and a throng of neighbors, plus East Liverpool police and Columbiana County sheriff's deputies.

A fourth grade student at Calcutta School, the boy did not receive his report card yesterday because he had not taken his six-week papers home for his parents' signatures, the family said. Fearful of going home without the card, he apparently headed into the wooded area instead of going home when he got off the school bus about 3 p. m.

He was found in a stripped-over area which lies between St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Route 30. The boy told his family he was trying to find his way home, but was confused by the darkness and the strange terrain.

The searchers covered a wide area of the isolated, wooded district on foot. Others cruised nearby roads in autos, believing he might have wandered away from home on foot and was attempting to hitch-hike a ride. East Liverpool police were asked to be on the look-out for him, as it also was believed he might have come into the city.

"We couldn't understand why he didn't come home, but we had no idea where he had gone," the father said today. "He never wanders off like that after school; he always tells his mother where he is going."

Victims were disarmed by his bragging about his new fatherhood status, the warning said.

Snowstorm's Total May Be 8-10 Inches

All Wellsville city schools are closed. Supt. S. E. Daw said he first planned to open the city buildings and keep Fairview at Hillcrest closed but this was changed after the weather report was received. All bus drivers were ordered early this morning not to make any runs.

The Immaculate Conception Parochial School opened for classes. Fr. John Lyons said school would be dismissed if the weather worsened and warranted closing.

Beaver Local school officials said it has not been decided if the district's 2,100 students will return to classes tomorrow.

George VanHorne, executive head, said if the snow continues, it is doubtful if the roads will be passable in some areas tomorrow, but students would be notified.

VanHorne said he ordered classes suspended today after checking highways and consulting bus drivers before 7 a. m.

Classes were being held at East Palestine, with attendance nearly normal for this time of the year, but many buses were late because of snow - covered roads, officials said.

Schools at Salem, Leetonia and Columbiana were open this morning, but officials were uncertain if classes would be held all day.

Some indicated school may be dismissed early to enable students to get home before roads become impassable.

Lisbon schools were also closed for today and Friday.

Hancock School Supt. Robert Hall said school children transported by bus probably will be started home about noon. Some pupils in the Weirton area were sent home shortly after their arrival this morning, he added.

Attendance at some schools was down 30 to 40 per cent, he said, chiefly because the school buses were tied up in traffic. It was particularly true in the Weirton area, Supt. Hall said, but added most buses arriving at Chester and Newell schools were close to schedule.

Midland public and parochial schools, the Western Beaver County School District in Ohio Township and Industry Borough and those of the South Side Joint Schools near Hookstown remained open today.

South Side schools reported that buses were running late and that only 6 of 19 runs had been made by 8:30 a. m. School was being held for those students who could get there.

Most buses of the Western Beaver County district, carrying students to Midland High School, were running late, the high school reported.

In East Liverpool, street department crews worked most of the night spreading ashes and salt, but much of their early effort was to no avail as the snow continued to pile up.

Two graders were put to work early this morning to clear the heavy accumulation from main thoroughfares. The Lisbon St. Hill had been scraped clear of the heavy snow before 8 this morning and another grader was moving along the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

After the graders passed, street department trucks spread ashes and salt to give autos traction on the thin coating of snow that remained.

Wellsville's street crews were called out at midnight and have been working steadily since, Safety - Service Director William S. Robinson said. All available men have been put to work to help keep the streets open.

Robinson said it started snowing in the city at 11:15 p. m. Wednesday but employes at the filtration plant off the old Salineville Rd. said it didn't start there until 15 minutes later.

Robinson said he is keeping the city trucks moving along the main thoroughfares and intersections to break up the drifts.

In Chester, a number of tractor-trailer trucks and other rigs were lined up at the curb on Carolina Ave. near the foot of the Route 30 hill, waiting for road conditions to improve.

A Jeep with blade scraper was being used by a city crew to keep Chester streets cleared. Traffic on Route 30 through Chester was reported light.

Midland police reported traffic moving slowly and street department crews were out all night and today cindering. Crews continued work on the Midland Heights hill road to keep it open.

EAST PALESTINE — Street crews were busy this morning but a spokesman said they are "unable to keep up with the snow." Streets were hazardous, but traffic was moving it was reported.

Salineville Adopts Partial Emergency

SALINEVILLE — A semi-official state of emergency was declared by Mayor Kenneth Leishman this morning in an effort to get parked autos off snow-clogged Main St. to expedite clearing of the roadway.

Leishman said Street Supervisor Roy Beckwith and three helpers were battling snow but were being handicapped by cars at the curb.

He ordered all motorists to remove cars, saying the roadway, still passable, was becoming clogged and threatened with jamming unless the narrow street is cleared.

Schools at Salineville and elsewhere in Southern Local School District were closed today.

Palestine Woman Injured At Newell

An East Palestine area woman was injured critically Wednesday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger plunged into the entrance of the Wells High School athletic field in Newell as the driver attempted to avoid a collision.

Mrs. Elizabeth Riddle, 60, of Enon Valley remains in "critical" condition at City Hospital. Hospital officials said she had "a poor night."

Mrs. Riddle suffered a possible fracture of the left knee and multiple lacerations of the face, mouth and left knee in the crash which also injured Albert L. Forney, 70, of the Unity Rd., East Palestine, who was driving the 1957 Jaguar four-door sedan.

Forney was cited by Hancock Deputy Sheriff Edward Frankovitch for reckless driving and driving on an expired license.

He pleaded guilty to both charges at a hearing last night before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester. Forney was fined $25 and costs for reckless driving and $10 and costs for no operator's license.

Deputy sheriffs said Forney was headed south on Washington St. at 3:50 p. m. and was preparing to pass another vehicle.

He told deputies the other vehicle started to turn and he swerved to avoid a collision.

The small sports car plunged over the sidewalk and crashed head on into a brick bannister at the steps leading into the athletic field.

Deputies said the mishap occurred only 15 minutes before school was dismissed. School buses load directly across the street from the accident.

Because of the mishap, children were kept in the building until Mrs. Riddle and Forney could be taken to the hospital.

Groups Clear Gift Of Land For Camp Site

Members of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge and FOP Associates voted Wednesday night to donate a 28-acre tract of ground at Rock Camp for establishment of a juvenile work camp, but explained a number of legal questions remain to be cleared before the actual transfer of the land can be made.

The tentative action was taken at a meeting in the headquarters of the two lodges in Diamond Alley following a discussion of the youth camp plan by its originator, Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Under his plan, a camp would be established to serve the 5 counties that comprise the 18th Congressional District—Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll.

Members of the two lodges said one question that remains to be cleared is a clause in the deed under which the ground would revert to the FOP and the FOPA if it ever ceased to be used for a juvenile camp. There also are other questions, such as selection of a name, they added.

The land fronts on Route 30 at Rock Camp in Madison Township. Purchased several years ago as a site for a summer youth camp, the tract has remained undeveloped. Part of the cost was furnished by proceeds from Old Home Week, a celebration sponsored each fall by the two lodges.

Other funds for the purchase came from sale of certificates in multiples of $25 to members of the two lodges. Old Home Week, Inc., is comprised of members of both lodges.

Judge Tobin proposed the idea for a juvenile work camp late in 1959. Since that time, several meetings have been held by the juvenile judges from the 5 counties, who endorsed the Columbiana County judge's proposal and decided to raise a fund to investigate further into such items as costs.

2,350 Quake Dead Laid In Mass Graves

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Rescue team officials said today 2,350 victims of the Agadir earthquakes have been buried in mass graves and that whole areas of the city remain to be searched.

As the figure was disclosed, Moroccan army troops sealed off the city. U.S. military teams and hundreds of French sailors deployed through the streets spraying rubble with disinfectant.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan ordered "all living souls to be evacuated from Agadir."

Moroccan government officials said they believed at least 5,000 persons were killed or injured when two massive earthquakes and a tidal wave wrecked the port city on the southern Moroccan coast Monday night.

An International Red Cross representative earlier had said he felt the figures would be 3,000 dead and 5,000 injured. But there was general agreement that no accurate count of the casualties would be possible.

Despite ceaseless rescue efforts since the quakes struck, some living were thought to be still trapped beneath the rubble of the shattered buildings.

The U.S. heavy cruiser Newport News arrived today with bulldozers and units of a U.S. Army Engineer battalion. They joined more than 1,600 sailors from a French naval squadron which arrived in the harbor Wednesday night after steaming at full speed from the Canary Islands.

In the fields outside the city shrouded bodies were thrown in mass graves and covered with quicklime.

A Roman Catholic priest said last rites over the European victims as surviving relatives stood alongside.

Rows of Moslems worked side by side, digging a long trench for 75 bodies awaiting burial. The hot weather and a lack of embalming facilities made haste necessary.

U.S. and French rescue planes roared overhead on mercy missions in and out of the French air base just outside the stricken city. The single runway was crowded with planes bringing in food, medicines and rescue equipment.

Probers Hunt For Cause Of Train Wreck

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Squads of investigators tried today to find what caused the collision of the Sante Fe Chief No. 2 streamliner, a San Francisco to Chicago passenger train, and a two-trailer truck rig loaded with 7,000 gallons of crude oil.

It happened at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday at the marked Austin Hageman road crossing on quiet San Joaquin Valley flatlands seven miles northwest of Bakersfield.

Fourteen persons died and 72 were injured in the crash and fire.

Of the 109 aboard—76 passengers and 33 crewmen—only 24 escaped injury. Of the injured, some seriously and a few critically, 44 remained hospitalized today.

Preserve Termed Water Plan Block

Several residents of Ohio Township attended a meeting of the Board of Supervisors Wednesday evening in the fire hall and voiced their opinion that the state game preserve on Route 168 is holding up prospects of a water system for the whole area.

They said that the state should sell parts of the preserve bordering both sides of the road. The supervisors said a solicitor will be hired to look into the matter. Nothing resulted from previous attempts, supervisors said.

Residents asked the board for aid and complained of unsanitary conditions of pollution of the stream in Cow Hollow and rats in that area.

Joe Kadilak, chairman, presided. Next meeting will be April 6.

'Posse' Of 100 Finds Boy In 4-Hour Hunt

Missing for almost 4 hours after alighting from a school bus near his home Wednesday afternoon, a 9-year-old Bloomfield boy was found safe, but chilled to the bone, after a search by 100 volunteer firemen, Civil Defense workers, neighbors and law enforcement officers.

James David Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Reese of the Bloomfield Rd., was found on an old strip mine area near his home, climaxing a disappearance that apparently started because he was fearful of going home without his school report card.

The alert was sounded about 6, bringing into the search members of the Calcutta and Glenmoor fire departments, a Civil Defense unit at Glenmoor and a throng of neighbors, plus East Liverpool police and Columbiana County sheriff's deputies.

A fourth grade student at Calcutta School, the boy did not receive his report card yesterday because he had not taken his six-week papers home for his parents' signatures, the family said. Fearful of going home without the card, he apparently headed into the wooded area instead of going home when he got off the school bus about 3 p. m.

He was found in a stripped-over area which lies between St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Route 30. The boy told his family he was trying to find his way home, but was confused by the darkness and the strange terrain.

The searchers covered a wide area of the isolated, wooded district on foot. Others cruised nearby roads in autos, believing he might have wandered away from home on foot and was attempting to hitch-hike a ride. East Liverpool police were asked to be on the look-out for him, as it also was believed he might have come into the city.

"We couldn't understand why he didn't come home, but we had no idea where he had gone," the father said today. "He never wanders off like that after school; he always tells his mother where he is going."

Steubenville Reaches Finals After Routing JU, 79-38

Faces Winner Of Tonight's Tourney Game

Steubenville Big Red had little trouble becoming the first team to reach the Wellsville Sectional Class "AA" finals by routing undermanned Jefferson Union, 79-38, Wednesday night at Wellsville's Beacom Memorial Gym.

Coach Ang Vaccaro's cagers will sit back now and await the outcome of tonight's Wellsville-Toronto game and meet the winner of this game in the finals on Saturday.

Tonight's semi-final contest will get underway at 8 p. m. Wellsville owns two regular season victories over the Red Knights.

Wednesday all 12 members of Steubenville's tournament team broke into the scoring column and the five starters only played one half.

Steubenville, which advanced to the semi-finals after eliminating East Liverpool in the opening round, gained an 18-4 margin at the end of the first quarter, led 40-14 at halftime and had the game wrapped up, 57-27, by the time the third period closed.

Sandy Williams, Big Red"s star who plays basketball with almost effortless motion, was high with 13 points.

Jefferson Union's Glenn Dickenson paced all scorers with 23 points, including 15 of 21 foul tries.

Both teams spent a good part of the evening at the charity stripe, with JU firing 43 foul attempts and Steubenville 37.

The winner of the sectional tourney at Wellsville will move to the district eliminations at Martins Ferry next week.

Cunningham Shot... Records Fell

Under the heavy bombardment by Kenny Cunningham, two East Liverpool High School records fell during the 1959-60 season.

For the second straight campaign Cunningham led the Potters in scoring and on the way put his name in the record books twice.

The Potters' brilliant guard scored 335 points in 17 regular season games and added 25 in one tournament contest for a total of 360.

Last season his 303 points topped all Potter scorers. Only a junior, he is sure of setting the all-time career high for an East Liverpool player.

In just two seasons, he has scored 663 points. Cunningham fired in 142 field goals and added 76 fouls for his season total.

On Feb. 12 at Toronto his 39 points set a modern school record, shattering Phil Hayes' mark of 35 set in 1956 during a sectional tournament game with Jefferson Union.

Last Friday, against Weirton, Cunningham dropped in 23 points, which carried him two points over the season record of 319 held by his present coach, Jim Harris.

Cunningham added 14 points against Wellsville to push his season's record to 335 for 17 games.

KENNY CUNNINGHAM
Leads Scorers For Second Year.

Cunningham missed the Martins Ferry game because of an ankle injury.

Ray Bigelow, who was the most improved player on the Potter team this season and became East Liverpool's main threats toward the last part of the campaign, was second in scoring with 204 points for the regular season.

He dropped in 20 against Steubenville in the sectional tourney for a total of 204.

Bob Mackall was third with 156 points, while junior Kenny Miller finished as the fourth leading scorer with 142 points.

Phil Chan, who gained a starting berth after the season got under way, hit for 113 points.

Craig Burbick finished his high school cage competition with 40 points, while Mike Geon, leading scorer on the reserve team, collected 28 in three games. Harold Adkins had 26, Jan Burke 2 and Ed Six 7.

In 19 games the Potters scored 1,121 points to their opponents, 1,205. They averaged 59 points a game to their opponents' 63.

The 91 points against Weirton was the season's high, while 44 at Canton McKinley was the low.

In the Weirton game the Potters tied a record for the most number of field goals — 41.

NCAA-Bound Ohio U. Upset By Marietta

By The Associated Press

Remember the operetta "Naughty Marietta?"

Ohio University's basketball Bobcats probably have worse words than "naughty" today for Marietta (College). The little riverside school up and knocked off the NCAA tournament - bound 'Cats, 74-66, Wednesday night in one of the upsets of the season.

For a half, things went along as expected, Ohio U. carrying a 40-31 lead into intermission. Then the host Pioneers began to ramble. They whizzed into a 46-45 lead with 12 minutes to go and after a 46-46 knot they rolled in front to stay.

Carl Wolfe was Marietta's big gun with 30 points. Larry Kruger led the losers with 17.

Ohio, which meets Notre Dame in an NCAA tourney test at Lexington, Ky., next week, now has a 16-6 record. Marietta takes a 10-10 record into this weekend's Ohio Conference tourney finals at Akron, which they reached last Saturday via another upset in halting a lengthy Capital U. win streak.

Elsewhere in Ohio, Dayton cracked open a 37-37 halftime deadlock to edge Detroit 75-69 despite Dave Busschere's 34 points for the Titans.

Two More Quints In NCAA Tourney

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Colorful Ed Diddle's Western Kentucky Hilltoppers and Maj. Bob Spear and his young, eager Air Force Falcons are teams No. 14 and 15 for the fast-filling 25-team NCAA basketball tournament today. By nightfall, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia probably will have joined the list.

The Air Force, making its first NCAA appearance, accepted an at-large invitation Wednesday while the Falcons were rolling up their 12th victory in their last 16 games, 65-58 over Regis. Western Kentucky, in the tournament for the first time since 1940, wrapped up the Ohio Valley Conference championship and an automatic berth in the NCAA showdown with an 83-69 romp over East Tennessee State.

At the same time, St. Joseph's set up iits probable selection as the Middle Atlantic Conference representative to the tourney by clinching the M-A university division title in a 78-66 victory over Lafayette.

The night's developments left the NCAA with eight at-large teams, NYU, Miami of Florida, Notre Dame, Navy, Idaho State, California, DePaul and Air Force, and with seven conference representatives determined—Ohio U. of the Mid-American, Georgia Tech of the Southeastern, Ohio State of the Big Ten, West Virginia of the Southern, Texas of the Southwest, Western Kentucky of the OVC and New Mexico State of the Border.

The eventual Ivy League winner (Princeton currently leads) gets one at-large berth while the NCAA will pick Sunday between Oregon and Oregon State and Southern California and UCLA for the two others.

North Carolina and Wake Forest are cofavorites in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament opening a three-day run in Raleigh, N.C. today to pick the ACC's champ and team for the NCAA. Conference races still undecided are the Missouri Valley, where Cincinnati has clinched at least a tie; the Big Eight, where Kansas and Kansas State are tied with one game to go; the West Coast Athletic Conference, where Pepperdine has clinched at least a tie; the Skyline, where Utah leads Utah State by a game with two games to go; and the Yankee, where Connecticut is 7-2 with one to go and Maine 6-2 with two to play.

West Named Loop's Player Of The Year

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — To the surprise of absolutely no one, magnificent Jerry West of West Virginia today was named the basketball player of the year in the Southern Conference.

The 6-3 senior All-America from Cabin Creek, W. Va., was a runaway choice in voting by the Southern Conference Sports Writers Assn., receiving 33 of the 35 votes cast. The other two went to Chris Smith, Virginia Tech's 6-6 junior pivot man from Charleston, W. Va.

It was the second year in a row the Mountaineer ace — who last week set an all-time career scoring record for West Virginia — had been honored as the conference's basketball player of the year.

With the NCAA playoffs still in front of him, West now has scored 2,204 points during his three years in the West Virginia lineup. He actually set the record in last Friday's Southern Conference tournament semifinals when he passed the old mark of 2,180 points set by Rod Hundley.

In guiding West Virginia to a 24-4 over-all record and its sixth straight league title this year, West has scored 803 points for a 28.6-point average — well up among the leaders in the nation.

Smith was the big reason Virginia Tech won the regular season title in the Southern Conference, posted a 20-6 over-all record and gained the league's tournament finals against West Virginia.

Colavito Signs For $35,000; To Join Tribe Today

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito, his holdout ended, was to put on his Cleveland Indians' uniform today and join the rest of the Tribesmen in training camp here.

Rocky flew here Wednesday night and turned in his signed contract, which will pay him $35,000.

General Manager Frank Lane, happy to have all his players under contract, commented that more important than having Rocky at Tucson "was the reason he gave—that he thinks we can win the pennant and he wants to do everything he can to help. That's the attitude I like."

Lane said from his home at St. Petersburg, Fla., there will be no more talk of trading Rocky. He said there had been "some serious swap talk with the Tigers in which Harvey Kuenn and Colavito were mentioned."

The general manager said only one minor trade was considered at the moment.

"A couple of clubs have expressed interest in Billy Moran," Lane said. "They need a utility infielder. If I can get a good prospect in exchange, I'll deal him."

Britain was evacuated by the Romans in 407 A.D.

Little Potters Continue Play At Two Sites

Ogilvie's face its stiffest test so far in the Little Potters League when the league leaders meet second place Bob Curran's Friday.

The Ogilvie's-Curran's game will begin at 7:15 at the Memorial Auditorium preceded by the Coca-Cola-Hune Co. contest at 7. These two games will serve as a preliminary for the City League playoff game between Alex's Carry-Out and Bob Feed's which gets underway at 8 p. m.

Two other Little Potter League games will be played at the Broadway gym in the afternoon with First National Bank meeting Frank Dawson's at 4 p. m. and Potters Bank facing McNutt Insurance at 4:15.

Ogilvie's will place a perfect 4-0 mark on the line while Curran's have a 3-1 record.

Houston U. Runner Breaks Olympic Mark

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Al Lawrence, the Australian who runs for University of Houston, bettered the Olympic record for 10,000 meters Wednesday. His time was 28:35.8. The Olympic record of 28:45.6 was set by Vladimir Kuts of Russia in 1956.

Lawrence set the mark at a triangular meet.

Is There A Managerial Job For Ted Williams?

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Is there a managerial job in Ted Williams' future?

Speculation rippled through spring training camps today on the heels of the announcement the 41-year-old slugger, last of the .400 hitters, will serve as part-time batting coach for the Boston Red Sox.

After a conference with General Manager Bucky Harris, field boss Billy Jurges called a press meeting Wednesday to announce the assignment for Williams "in addition to his regular chores."

Ted, bothered by a painful neck ailment for a full year, said he doubted if he could play when he reported to camp Monday. However, he admitted he felt better Wednesday, ran hard, poled a couple of drives over the right field wall and barked:

"I didn't come out here to be a pinchhitter."

The idea of the great lefthanded batsman becoming a managerial possibility has been bantered about in the Boston press for several years. The stir went beyond Red Sox fandom with the announcement of his coaching duties.

Williams shrugs it off. "It's nothing really new," Ted said. "I've been helping any hitter who asked for 10 or 12 years now."

Big 10 Shows Sharpshooters

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1959-60 Big Ten basketball season may wind up with the loop's most proficient mark in field goal shooting. The season ends Saturday with a full five-game schedule.

Currently four players and three teams have higher floor shooting averages than existing records.

Michigan State's Johnny Green set the individual accuracy mark of .538 in 1958. The team record is .431, set by Ohio State in 1957.

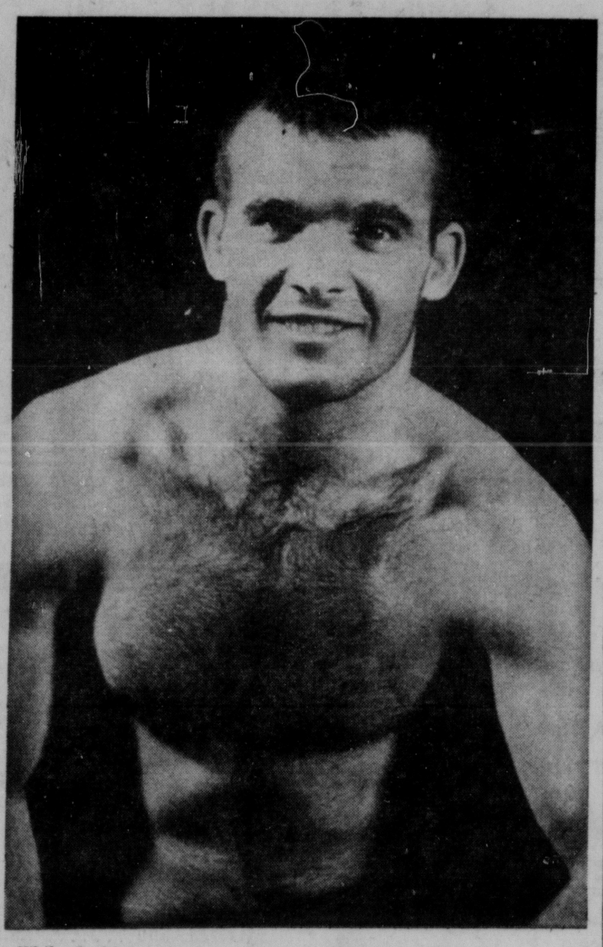

Ahead of Green's record are Jerry Lucas of Ohio State's Big Ten title-holders with .663; Ron Johnson of Minnesota, .571; Terry Dischinger of Purdue, .558, and Walt Bellamy of Indiana, .542.

Ohio State is shooting at a .498 pace; Minnesota .482, Indiana .458.

Dischinger still is in front in individual scoring with a 13-game average of 27.1. Lucas is runner-up with 26.1. The outcome hinges on Lucas' performance against Minnesota and Dischinger's wind-up against Wisconsin Saturday.

Ohio State leads in team point scoring with an average of 92.0, better than the 91.2 Big Ten record set by the 1956 Illinois team. Northwestern is in the top defensive spot, yielding an average of 69.4. Michigan State leads in rebounds with a 52.8 average.

Jim Hoppel Is Hoping For Crack At Olympics

While looking ahead to May when he hopes to try out for the United States Olympic team, Jim Hoppel keeps winning wrestling matches for Bowling Green University.

The former East Liverpool wrestler under Coach Lou Venditti is one of the big reasons why Bowling Green has been undefeated in the sport the last two years.

Jim has 20 straight victories to his credit.

His record is one of the most outstanding in college circles. In seven years of high school and college wrestling, Hoppel has lost only six of more than 100 matches. Two of those defeats were to Olympic champions.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. Hoppel of Calcutta, Jim is one of five wrestling brothers. The youngest, Carl Hoppel of Beaver Local, will seek his second straight state title this weekend in the meet at Columbus.

Jim says "my parents have kept all five of us boys interested in wrestling; they have contributed the most to my success."

In high school, Jim starred in football for the Potters. In 1955, he finished third in the state wrestling meet and won the 133-pound crown in 1956.

Last year as a sophomore at Bowling Green he won the Mid-American Conference title in his weight class and the 4-I championship.

Canadian Pair Wins World Skate Crown

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Togetherness — a one-word description of their skating brilliance—brought a fourth world pairs figure skating championship Wednesday night to Canada's Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul.

Fresh from victory in the Winter Olympics, the shy young duo from Toronto defeated 11 other couples to retain their world crown.

Their triumph was nearly overshadowed by the smashing performance of another Canadian pair, Maria and Otto Jelinek. The Jelineks had finished fourth in the Olympics, but Wednesday night the judges applauded their five-minute stint with marks nearly as high as those given the champions.

Following the Jelineks in third place was West Germany's top duo, Marika Kilius and Hans-Jurgen Baumler, who had taken second in the Olympics.

Start of competition in men's singles is on today's program in the 5-day 1960 world championships, which end Saturday. Seventeen entrants will skate three compulsory figures. A second round of three is scheduled Friday.

Donald Jackson of Canada and Alain Giletti of France have been installed as co-favorites.

On the program tonight is the final competition in women's singles. Carol Heiss of New York City, Olympic and defending world champion, has built up a wide lead in skating compulsory figures.

Redlegs' Pinson Out To Improve .316 Bat Mark

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Vada Pinson, the Cincinnati Reds' stellar 21-year-old outfielder, turned in a .316 batting average last year but is out to improve it, he said, "by concentrating on doing what comes naturally."

Perspiring from a strenuous first-day round of team training, Pinson recalled that "until late last season, I was content to hit a ball where it was pitched. I never really swung for home runs. They just came with the base hits.

I got 17, then 18, then decided to go for the long ones. I got 20, but in swinging for distance, my batting average got smaller.

"I'm making no predictions about this season, but if home runs come, they'll come from my natural swing. I'm not going to swing like I did. That was a mistake," Pinson said.

Doing what came naturally in 1959 produced 205 hits for the youngster, including 76 extra base blows, 20 stolen bases, and 131 runs scored.

The wild buffalo on African plains are more ferocious in attack than are lions.

Braves Manager Sees Schoendienst Starting

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Manager Charlie Dresson of the Milwaukee Braves, pleased with the performance of Red Schoendienst in the early days of spring training, believes he will be able to use the veteran second baseman as a starter in most baseball games this year.

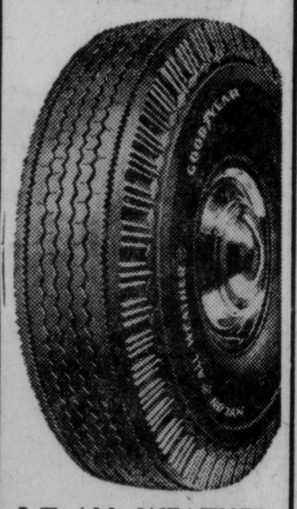

"Red gets the ball as good as he did before he got sick," Dressen said Wednesday after watching Schoendienst go through a long workout.

Schoendienst was out most of the 1959 season with tuberculosis.

Steubenville Reaches Finals After Routing JU, 79-38

Faces Winner Of Tonight's Tourney Game

Steubenville Big Red had little trouble becoming the first team to reach the Wellsville Sectional Class "AA" finals by routing undermanned Jefferson Union, 79-38, Wednesday night at Wellsville's Beacom Memorial Gym.

Coach Ang Vaccaro's cagers will sit back now and await the outcome of tonight's Wellsville-Toronto game and meet the winner of this game in the finals on Saturday.

Tonight's semi-final contest will get underway at 8 p. m. Wellsville owns two regular season victories over the Red Knights.

Wednesday all 12 members of Steubenville's tournament team broke into the scoring column and the five starters only played one half.

Steubenville, which advanced to the semi-finals after eliminating East Liverpool in the opening round, gained an 18-4 margin at the end of the first quarter, led 40-14 at halftime and had the game wrapped up, 57-27, by the time the third period closed.

Sandy Williams, Big Red's star who plays basketball with almost effortless motion, was high with 13 points.

Jefferson Union's Glenn Dickenson paced all scorers with 23 points, including 15 of 21 foul tries.

Both teams spent a good part of the evening at the charity stripe, with JU firing 43 foul attempts and Steubenville 37.

The winner of the sectional tourney at Wellsville will move to the district eliminations at Martins Ferry next week.

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Bowie General Manager Jack Loome announced heavy snow in the region has forced a cancellation of Bowie's entire nine-race card today.

Cunningham Shot... Records Fell

Under the heavy bombardment by Kenny Cunningham, two East Liverpool High School records fell during the 1959-60 season.

For the second straight campaign Cunningham led the Potters in scoring and on the way put his name in the record books twice.

The Potters' brilliant guard scored 335 points in 17 regular season games and added 25 in one tournament contest for a total of 360.

Last season his 303 points topped all Potter scorers. Only a junior, he is sure of setting the all-time career high for an East Liverpool player.

In just two seasons, he has scored 663 points. Cunningham fired in 142 field goals and added 76 fouls for his season total.

On Feb. 12 at Toronto his 39 points set a modern school record, shattering Phil Hayes' mark of 35 set in 1956 during a sectional tournament game with Jefferson Union.

Last Friday, against Weirton, Cunningham dropped in 23 points, which carried him two points over the season record of 319 held by his present coach, Jim Harris.

Cunningham added 14 points against Wellsville to push his season's record to 335 for 17 games.

KENNY CUNNINGHAM
Leads Scorers For Second Year.

Cunningham missed the Martins Ferry game because of an ankle injury.

Ray Bigelow, who was the most improved player on the Potter team this season and became East Liverpool's main threats toward the last part of the campaign, was second in scoring with 204 points for the regular season.

He dropped in 20 against Steubenville in the sectional tourney for a total of 204.

Bob Mackall was third with 156 points, while junior Kenny Miller finished as the fourth leading scorer with 142 points.

Phil Chan, who gained a starting berth after the season got under way, hit for 113 points.

Craig Burbick finished his high school cage competition with 40 points, while Mike Geon, leading scorer on the reserve team, collected 28 in three games. Harold Adkins had 26, Jan Burke 2 and Ed Six 7.

In 19 games the Potters scored 1,121 points to their opponents, 1,205. They averaged 59 points a game to their opponents' 63.

The 91 points against Weirton was the season's high, while 44 at Canton McKinley was the low.

In the Weirton game the Potters tied a record for the most number of field goals — 41.

NCAA-Bound Ohio U. Upset By Marietta

By The Associated Press

Remember the operetta "Naughty Marietta?"

Ohio University's basketball Bobcats probably have worse words than "naughty" today for Marietta (College). The little riverside school up and knocked off the NCAA tournament - bound 'Cats, 74-66, Wednesday night in one of the upsets of the season.

For a half, things went along as expected, Ohio U. carrying a 40-31 lead into intermission. Then the host Pioneers began to ramble. They whizzed into a 46-45 lead with 12 minutes to go and after a 46-46 knot they rolled in front to stay.

Carl Wolfe was Marietta's big gun with 30 points. Larry Kruger led the losers with 17.

Ohio, which meets Notre Dame in an NCAA tourney test at Lexington, Ky., next week, now has a 16-6 record. Marietta takes a 10-10 record into this weekend's Ohio Conference tourney finals at Akron, which they reached last Saturday via another upset in halting a lengthy Capital U. win streak.

Elsewhere in Ohio, Dayton cracked open a 37-37 halftime deadlock to edge Detroit 75-69 despite Dave Busschere's 34 points for the Titans.

Two More Quints In NCAA Tourney

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Colorful Ed Diddle's Western Kentucky Hilltoppers and Maj. Bob Spear and his young, eager Air Force Falcons are teams No. 14 and 15 for the fast-filling 25-team NCAA basketball tournament today. By nightfall, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia probably will have joined the list.

The Air Force, making its first NCAA appearance, accepted an at-large invitation Wednesday while the Falcons were rolling up their 12th victory in their last 16 games, 65-56 over Regis. Western Kentucky, in the tournament for the first time since 1940, wrapped up the Ohio Valley Conference championship and an automatic berth in the NCAA showdown with an 83-69 romp over East Tennessee State.

At the same time, St. Joseph's set up iits probable selection as the Middle Atlantic Conference representative to the tourney by clinching the M-A university division title in a 78-66 victory over Lafayette.

The night's developments left the NCAA with eight at-large teams, NYU, Miami of Florida, Notre Dame, Navy, Idaho State, California, DePaul and Air Force, and with seven conference representatives determined—Ohio U. of the Mid-American, Georgia Tech of the Southeastern, Ohio State of the Big Ten, West Virginia of the Southern, Texas of the Southwest, Western Kentucky of the OVC and New Mexico State of the Border.

The eventual Ivy League winner (Princeton currently leads) gets one at-large berth while the NCAA will pick Sunday between Oregon and Oregon State and Southern California and UCLA for the two others.

North Carolina and Wake Forest are cofavorites in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament opening a three-day run in Raleigh, N.C. today to pick the ACC's champ and team for the NCAA. Conference races still undecided are the Missouri Valley, where Cincinnati has clinched at least a tie; the Big Eight, where Kansas and Kansas State are tied with one game to go; the West Coast Athletic Conference, where Pepperdine has clinched at least a tie; the Skyline, where Utah leads Utah State by a game with two games to go; and the Yankee, where Connecticut is 7-2 with one to go and Maine 6-2 with two to play.

West Named Loop's Player Of The Year

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — To the surprise of absolutely no one, magnificent Jerry West of West Virginia today was named the basketball player of the year in the Southern Conference.

The 6-3 senior All-America from Cabin Creek, W. Va., was a runaway choice in voting by the Southern Conference Sports Writers Assn., receiving 33 of the 35 votes cast. The other two went to Chris Smith, Virginia Tech's 6-6 junior pivot man from Charleston, W. Va.

It was the second year in a row the Mountaineer ace — who last week set an all-time career scoring record for West Virginia — had been honored as the conference's basketball player of the year.

With the NCAA playoffs still in front of him, West now has scored 2,204 points during his three years in the West Virginia lineup. He actually set the record in last Friday's Southern Conference tournament semifinals when he passed the old mark of 2,180 points set by Rod Hundley.

In guiding West Virginia to a 24-4 over-all record and its sixth straight league title this year, West has scored 803 points for a 26.6-point average — well up among the leaders in the nation.

Smith was the big reason Virginia Tech won the regular season title in the Southern Conference, posted a 20-6 over-all record and gained the league's tournament finals against West Virginia.

Colavito Signs For $35,000; To Join Tribe Today

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito, his holdout ended, was to put on his Cleveland Indians' uniform today and join the rest of the Tribesmen in training camp here.

Rocky flew here Wednesday night and turned in his signed contract, which will pay him $35,000.

General Manager Frank Lane, happy to have all his players under contract, commented that more important than having Rocky at Tucson "was the reason he gave—that he thinks we can win the pennant and he wants to do everything he can to help. That's the attitude I like."

Lane said from his home at St. Petersburg, Fla., there will be no more talk of trading Rocky. He said there had been "some serious swap talk with the Tigers in which Harvey Kuenn and Colavito were mentioned."

The general manager said only one minor trade was considered at the moment.

"A couple of clubs have expressed interest in Billy Moran," Lane said. "They need a utility infielder. If I can get a good prospect in exchange, I'll deal him."

Britain was evacuated by the Romans in 407 A.D.

Little Potters Continue Play At Two Sites

Ogilvie's face its stiffest test so far in the Little Potters League when the league leaders meet second place Bob Curran's Friday.

The Ogilvie's-Curran's game will begin at 7:15 at the Memorial Auditorium preceded by the Coca-Cola-Hune Co. contest at 7. These two games will serve as a preliminary for the City League playoff game between Alex's Carry-Out and Bob Feed's which gets underway at 8 p. m.

Two other Little Potter League games will be played at the Broadway gym in the afternoon with First National Bank meeting Frank Dawson's at 4 p. m. and Potters Bank facing McNutt Insurance at 4:15.

Ogilvie's will place a perfect 4-0 mark on the line while Curran's have a 3-1 record.

Houston U. Runner Breaks Olympic Mark

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Al Lawrence, the Australian who runs for University of Houston, bettered the Olympic record for 10,000 meters Wednesday. His time was 28:35.8. The Olympic record of 28:45.6 was set by Vladimir Kuts of Russia in 1956.

Lawrence set the mark at a triangular meet.

Is There A Managerial Job For Ted Williams?

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Is there a managerial job in Ted Williams' future?

Speculation rippled through spring training camps today on the heels of the announcement the 41-year-old slugger, last of the .400 hitters, will serve as part-time batting coach for the Boston Red Sox.

After a conference with General Manager Bucky Harris, field boss Billy Jurges called a press meeting Wednesday to announce the assignment for Williams "in addition to his regular chores."

Ted, bothered by a painful neck ailment for a full year, said he doubted if he could play when he reported to camp Monday. However, he admitted he felt better Wednesday, ran hard, poled a couple of drives over the right field wall and barked:

"I didn't come out here to be a pinchhitter."

The idea of the great lefthanded batsman becoming a managerial possibility has been bantered about in the Boston press for several years. The stir went beyond Red Sox fandom with the announcement of his coaching duties.

Williams shrugs it off. "It's nothing really new," Ted said. "I've been helping any hitter who asked for 10 or 12 years now."

Big 10 Shows Sharpshooters

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1959-60 Big Ten basketball season may wind up with the loop's most proficient mark in field goal shooting. The season ends Saturday with a full five-game schedule.

Currently four players and three teams have higher floor shooting averages than existing records.

Michigan State's Johnny Green set the individual accuracy mark of .538 in 1958. The team record is .431, set by Ohio State in 1957.

Ahead of Green's record are Jerry Lucas of Ohio State's Big Ten title-holders with .663; Ron Johnson of Minnesota, .571; Terry Dischinger of Purdue, .558, and Walt Bellamy of Indiana, .542.

Ohio State is shooting at a .498 pace; Minnesota .482, Indiana .458.

Dischinger still is in front in individual scoring with a 13-game average of 27.1. Lucas is runner-up with 26.1. The outcome hinges on Lucas' performance against Minnesota and Dischinger's wind-up against Wisconsin Saturday.

Ohio State leads in team point scoring with an average of 92.0, better than the 91.2 Big Ten record set by the 1956 Illinois team. Northwestern is in the top defensive spot, yielding an average of 69.4. Michigan State leads in rebounds with a 52.8 average.

Canadian Pair Wins World Skate Crown

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Togetherness — a one-word description of their skating brilliance—brought a fourth world pairs figure skating championship Wednesday night to Canada's Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul.

Fresh from victory in the Winter Olympics, the shy young duo from Toronto defeated 11 other couples to retain their world crown.

Their triumph was nearly overshadowed by the smashing performance of another Canadian pair, Maria and Otto Jelinek. The Jelineks had finished fourth in the Olympics, but Wednesday night the judges applauded their five-minute stint with marks nearly as high as those given the champions.

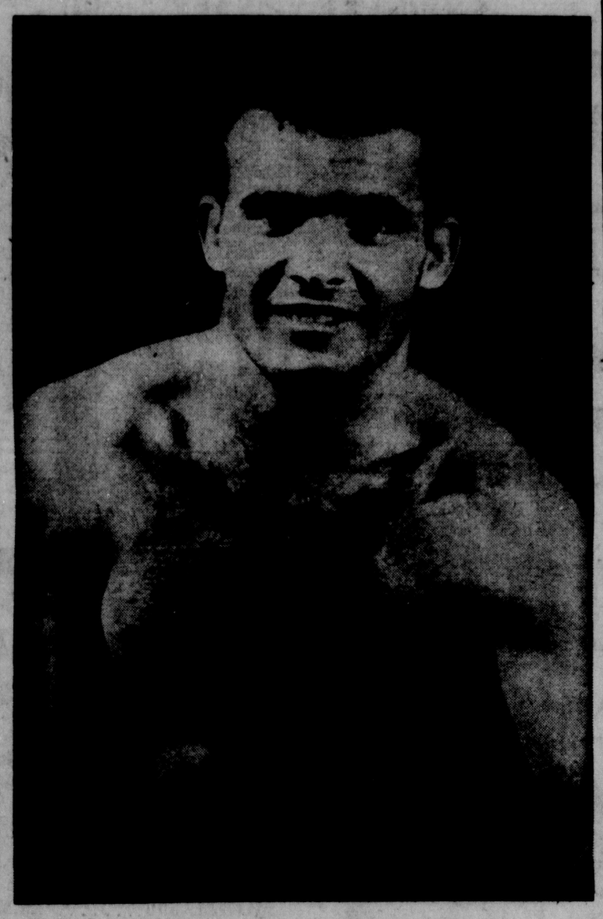

Following the Jelineks in third place was West Germany's top duo, Marika Kilius and Hans-Jurgen Baumler, who had taken second in the Olympics.

Start of competition in men's singles is on today's program in the 5-day 1960 world championships, which end Saturday. Seventeen entrants will skate three compulsory figures. A second round of three is scheduled Friday.

Donald Jackson of Canada and Alain Giletti of France have been installed as co-favorites.

On the program tonight is the final competition in women's singles. Carol Heiss of New York City, Olympic and defending world champion, has built up a wide lead in skating compulsory figures.

Jim Hoppel Is Hoping For Crack At Olympics

While looking ahead to May when he hopes to try out for the United States Olympic team, Jim Hoppel keeps winning wrestling matches for Bowling Green University.

The former East Liverpool wrestler under Coach Lou Venditti is one of the big reasons why Bowling Green has been undefeated in the sport the last two years.

Jim has 20 straight victories to his credit.

His record is one of the most outstanding in college circles. In seven years of high school and college wrestling, Hoppel has lost only six of more than 100 matches. Two of those defeats were to Olympic champions.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. Hoppel of Calcutta, Jim is one of five wrestling brothers. The youngest, Carl Hoppel of Beaver Local, will seek his second straight state title this weekend in the meet at Columbus.

Jim says "my parents have kept all five of us boys interested in wrestling; they have contributed the most to my success."

In high school, Jim starred in football for the Potters. In 1955, he finished third in the state wrestling meet and won the 133-pound crown in 1956.

Last year as a sophomore at Bowling Green he won the Mid-American Conference title in his weight class and the 4-I championship.

Redlegs' Pinson Out To Improve .316 Bat Mark

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Vada Pinson, the Cincinnati Reds' stellar 21-year-old outfielder, turned in a .316 batting average last year but is out to improve it, he said, "by concentrating on doing what comes naturally."

Perspiring from a strenuous first-day round of team training, Pinson recalled that "until late last season, I was content to hit a ball where it was pitched. I never really swung for home runs. They just came with the base hits.

I got 17, then 18, then decided to go for the long ones. I got 20, but in swinging for distance, my batting average got smaller.

"I'm making no predictions about this season, but if home runs come, they'll come from my natural swing. I'm not going to swing like I did. That was a mistake," Pinson said.

Doing what came naturally in 1959 produced 205 hits for the youngster, including 76 extra base blows, 20 stolen bases, and 131 runs scored.

The wild buffalo on African plains are more ferocious in attack than are lions.

Braves Manager Sees Schoendienst Starting

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Manager Charlie Dresson of the Milwaukee Braves, pleased with the performance of Red Schoendienst in the early days of spring training, believes he will be able to use the veteran second baseman as a starter in most baseball games this year.

"Red gets the ball as good as he did before he got sick," Dressen said Wednesday after watching Schoendienst go through a long workout.

Schoendienst was out most of the 1959 season with tuberculosis.

Millirons Wins Round . . .

Millirons became the third-round champs in the Federal League, but found the going a little tough in the final night.

With Riverview Hotel breathing down its neck in second place, Millirons lost its first two games, 947-941 and 937-936, to Johnson Pontiac.

In the third game, however, Millirons came roaring back to win 993-830 and gain two points for total pins of 2,870-2,714.

If Millirons would have lost the final game, Riverview, which finished only two points back, would have won or tied. Riverview swept three straight from Hune Co.

During Tuesday's action, Chuck Stewart, who bowls for Riverview, set a new high single game of 268 and finished with a 628 series.

HUNE CO. is sneaking back up to the top in the Lisbon Classic League.

The East Liverpool entry swept three straight from Farmer's National Bank. Hune's 2,907 total for the night was the top score rolled by any of the 10 teams.

The three victories put Hune Co. in a tie for fourth place with 17 points. Heck's Restaurant leads the league with 20, but a showdown battle is coming up tonight when Hune's and Heck's tangle.

George Simballa's 247 and 214 games along with a 634 series were high for Hune's last Thursday.

National League Tightens . . .

ANYTHING can happen in the National Bowling League where the standings are getting tighter each week.

Tonti Hotel remains on top with 24 points, but dropped two games Monday night to Homer Laughlins, who moved into second place only one point off the leaders.

Bob's Bar, which hit 1,020 in one game, took two of three matches from the Turf Bar and moved into second place with 22 points.

Daugherty's 630 series and Reark's 230 game topped the league scores Monday.

VILLAGE GREEN, in its showdown battle with Higgins TV, remained on top in the Cats and Dogs League.

After dropping the first contest, Village Green came back to win the last two, but failed to pick up total pins.

Following Sunday's firing, Village Green holds a one - point edge, 25-24.

THE DODGERS captured the third round championship in the Guys and Dolls League, finishing five points in front of the Cubs. The Dodgers wrapped up the final night of the round by taking two of three games from the Pirates.

Big 10 Ready To Kill Pact On Rose Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Almost certain death awaits the Rose Bowl pact today as Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors open their three-day post-winter session here at noon.

The football agreement is No. 1 on the agenda and a 5-5 vote on renewal is a virtual certainty. A majority vote is necessary for approval. Results of the ballot will be announced at 5 p.m.

Minnesota, Ohio State, Northwestern, Illinois and Wisconsin are a solid bloc against renewing the pact and Michigan, Michigan State, Purdue, Iowa and Indiana are for it.

In the past 14 years the agreement has poured five million dollars into the Western Conference treasuries. During its effect conference schools have won 12 and lost two Rose Bowl battles. Each Big Ten member has profited by about $25,000 from the pact, with the competing school getting twice that much and a full share going to the commissioner's office.

An early-arriving athletic director sounded the familiar theme that loss of the Rose Bowl will hurt the entire conference in recruiting football talent. But such arguments failed to sway member schools in their instructions to their representatives here.

Also on the agenda today are an offer of three million dollars for the privilege of televising all Big Ten sports over a three-year period and a new attempt to take out of Big Ten regulations a rule which would allow individual members to accept a Rose Bowl invitation. Acceptance of the TV offer would defy NCAA rules.

Sawyer Out To Finish Job He Lost During '52 Season

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Sawyer is getting tough again. The Philadelphia Phillies' manager, onetime fatherly boss of the 1950 pennant-winning Whiz Kids, is apparently out to finish the job he lost in 1952.

Sawyer, who admittedly is working on a "win or else basis," Wednesday told the current crop of Phils:

"All you fellows who have a lot of money stay out after 12 and we'll take some of it."

So there is a midnight curfew in Clearwater, Fla., where the Phillies are in spring training.

The last time Sawyer talked that way it was the manager who was eliminated.

Eddie first came to the Phils in midseason 1948. Two and a half years later he had the National League pennant, the Phils' first in 35 years.

But the proud Whiz Kids slipped to fifth in 1951, and Sawyer got tough. Players' wives were barred from spring training. Player discontent grew. People said Sawyer was too easy. The players lost respect for Sawyer. And by late July Sawyer was out of work.

But the Whiz Kids never recovered and last July the Phils brought Eddie back to run the club.

Only pitchers Robin Roberts and Curt Simmmons remain from the Whiz Kids, and Eddie must count on them to help the Phils improve from their last-place finish of 1959.

The American League's last-place team, the Washington Senators, were chereed when Harmon Killebrew, their young slugger, turned up for workouts at Orlando, and hit the fourth pitch over the 385-foot sign in left center field. Killebrew shared the league home run championship last year at 42 with Cleveland's Rocky Colavito.

Colavito arrived at the Indians' training camp in Tucson Wednesday and promptly signed his contract although he had said he wasn't happy over the terms. He was reported to have signed for approximately $35,000, a 25 per cent increase. The Yankees, however, apparently were no closer to coming to terms with their slugger. Mickey Mantle.

From his Dallas, Tex., home Mickey said "I've been waiting on them to call me. I'm going to continue—I guess." Mantle has rejected a contract calling for a $15,000 cut from his $75,000 of last year.

'Big O' Assured Of 2 More College Scoring Records

By The Associated Press

An 80-point burst in his last two games has just about assured Cincinnati's great Oscar Robertson of two more scoring achievements in major college basketball—his third straight national scoring title and an all-time career average record.

With two more regular season games to go, and up to four tournament starts, Robertson has 841 points and a 35.0 average for a comfortable lead over St. Bonaventure's Tom Stith in the scoring race.

In his career, Robertson has averaged 34.2 and, according to statistics of the NCAA Service Bureau in New York, needs to average only about 10 points a game to break the all-time career average of 32.5 set by Furman's Frank Selvy in three seasons ending in 1954.

Wilks May Help Score Again At Tribe's Camp

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The man southpaw Herb Score credits with making a major league pitcher out of him is here in the Cleveland Indians' training camp.

He is Ted Wilks, one-time relief pitching star for the St. Louis Cardinals and, for a time, a Cleveland pitcher. He has been signed as a roving pitching coach and trouble shooter for the farm system.

But it's no secret that his main job here is to help Score along the comeback trail.

Wilks was a member of the pitching staff at Indianapolis in 1954. Score also was at Indianapolis, then the top farm club in the Indian chain. The brass had moved Score up hopefully despite a miserable record at Reading, where Herb won seven, had a 4.68 earned run average and gave up 126 bases on balls in 98 innings.

Everything was wrong with his style, Score says. "I kicked my foot too high. I kept my back stiff. I propelled the ball like a grenade thrower instead of snapping it." How did Wilks cure him? "By keeping everlastingly at me," says Score. "I'd be pitching and he'd be sitting on the dugout steps and all of a sudden I'd hear a bellow, 'Bend your back!' " Even off the field, Wilks never let up. "I had to learn to pitch to have any peace," Score recalls.

Score won 16 and lost 10 for Cleveland in 1955. The next year he won 20 and lost 9, but early in 1957 he was hit in the eye by a batted ball and sidelined the rest of the season.

In 1958, Score had a 2-3 record and last year he went 9-11.

Wilks watched Wednesday while Score pitched batting practice. After the 15-minute session, the two went into a huddle, and Score learned that once again he was doing everything wrong.

His stride was bad, his delivery was stiff, and he was wasting energy by pushing his body upward rather than forward off his left foot. Patiently, Wilks had Herb go through each motion until he was doing it properly again.

Rodriguez Beats Vejar, Clamors For Title Fight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Luis Rodriguez had no sooner finished thumping Chico Vejar when he raised a new clamor for a welterweight title bout with Don Jordan.

"Why should Kid Paret fight Jordan instead of me?" the 21-year-old Cuban flash asked in his dressing room. "He's fourth-ranked challenger and I'm first-ranked."

No one was offering any rebuttal, least of all the veteran Vejar, who lost a unanimous 10-round decision to Rodriguez Wednesday night at Miami Beach Exhibition Hall.

"He has the fastest pair of hands of any man I've fought," Vejar said.

Millirons Wins Round . . .

Millirons became the third-round champs in the Federal League, but found the going a little tough in the final night.

With Riverview Hotel breathing down its neck in second place, Millirons lost its first two games, 947-941 and 937-936, to Johnson Pontiac.

In the third game, however, Millirons came roaring back to win 993-830 and gain two points for total pins of 2,870-2,714.

If Millirons would have lost the final game, Riverview, which finished only two points back, would have won or tied. Riverview swept three straight from Hune Co.

During Tuesday's action, Chuck Stewart, who bowls for Riverview, set a new high single game of 268 and finished with a 628 series.

HUNE CO. is sneaking back up to the top in the Lisbon Classic League.

The East Liverpool entry swept three straight from Farmer's National Bank. Hune's 2,907 total for the night was the top score rolled by any of the 10 teams.

The three victories put Hune Co. in a tie for fourth place with 17 points. Heck's Restaurant leads the league with 20, but a showdown battle is coming up tonight when Hune's and Heck's tangle.

George Simballa's 247 and 214 games along with a 634 series were high for Hune's last Thursday.

National League Tightens . . .

ANYTHING can happen in the National Bowling League where the standings are getting tighter each week.

Tonti Hotel remains on top with 24 points, but dropped two games Monday night to Homer Laughlins, who moved into second place only one point off the leaders.

Bob's Bar, which hit 1,020 in one game, took two of three matches from the Turf Bar and moved into second place with 22 points.

Daugherty's 630 series and Reark's 230 game topped the league scores Monday.

VILLAGE GREEN, in its showdown battle with Higgins TV, remained on top in the Cats and Dogs League.

After dropping the first contest, Village Green came back to win the last two, but failed to pick up total pins.

THE DODGERS captured the third round championship in the Guys and Dolls League, finishing five points in front of the Cubs. The Dodgers wrapped up the final night of the round by taking two of three games from the Pirates.

'Big O' Assured Of 2 More College Scoring Records

By The Associated Press

An 80-point burst in his last two games has just about assured Cincinnati's great Oscar Robertson of two more scoring achievements in major college basketball—his third straight national scoring title and an all-time career average record.

With two more regular season games to go, and up to four tournament starts, Robertson has 841 points and a 35.0 average for a comfortable lead over St. Bonaventure's Tom Stith in the scoring race.

In his career, Robertson has averaged 34.2 and, according to statistics of the NCAA Service Bureau in New York, needs to average only about 10 points a game to break the all-time career average of 32.5 set by Furman's Frank Selvy in three seasons ending in 1954.

On the team level, Ohio State remains first in offense with a 92.3 average, and California in defense with 48.1.

Philadelphia's Dave Philley set a pinch hitting record by hitting safely in nine straight games last season.

Trouble With Real Indians

The buzz along television row today is that "NBC is having trouble with the Indians." Not all Indians, mind you! Just Pima Indians.

Marie Torre

And now that the facts are known we're not quite sure whether it's a matter of NBC having trouble with the Pima Indians or the Pima Indians having trouble with NBC. The bone of contention is "The Ira Hayes Story," a coming "Sunday Showcase" special based on the life of the late Pima Indian, one of the six men who composed that classic Associated Press photo of the American flag being raised on Iwo Jima.

AT FIRST, when producer Robert Alan Aurthur, director John Frankenheimer and writer Merle Miller broached the idea to the braves on the Gila River Indian Reservation in Arizona, all parties under the tent practiced the art of being pleased.

The tribe would pass judgment on the script, in return for which the TV man would shoot all the film they needed of the reservation and its inhabitants.

Later, however, after Pima Gov. Jay R. Morago Jr. and his cabinet looked over the script, their reaction was such that if this had been 1690 instead of 1960 they would have called a war council.

Needless to say, the Pima reservation was closed to NBC, whereupon the television crew, seemingly undaunted, moved on to Tucson and the Papago Reservation for a reasonable facsimile of the Pima locale.

BUT ONE THING is sure. The Indians viewers will see in the television show on March 27 will not be Pima braves — not self-respecting Pima braves, that is!

"Let me put it this way," said Simpson Cox, the Phoenix attorney who represents the tribe. "Just as there are Skid Row Irish and Skid Row French, there are Skid Row Indians. If they get any Pima Indians in that show, they won't be good Pima Indians."

As Mr. Cox explained the conflict, Gov. Morago and the Pima Council objected to the script because it portrayed Hayes as "a typical Indian drunk."

The original story, Mr. Cox holds, gives a false impression of Hayes. Though the script reportedly has been changed on the advice of NBC counsel, neither Atty. Cox nor Gov. Morago has been told of the changes. Complaints on the matter may be filed by Mr. Cox in Washington.

"IF THE SCRIPT runs as originally written," Mr. Cox noted, "I believe we have cause for action against NBC and the stations that run the film.

"All we want is the true story of Hayes to be told. Not a fabrication. Indians historically have been lied to and about. We can't prevent this, but this time we're going to do our best to see that the American public knows the truth."

Meanwhile, producer Robert Alan Aurthur, acting in typical network executive manner, is noncommittal on the subject.

"Trouble?" he echoed from Tucson when queried about the conflict. "No trouble! If anything, I'd say we're not having as much trouble with the Pima Indians as they're having with us."

-:-

GREER GARSON will undertake the role of the high-minded representative of British imperialism in George Bernard Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion" May 2 on "Hall of Fame." This is the comedy Shaw wrote for Ellen Terry in 1889. . . .

Proving there's lucre in old movies, MGM reports that so far TV licensing of its film library has brought the studio 56 million dollars worth of contracts.

-:-

DICK CLARK makes an unusually candid admission in the current issue of Redbook. In explaining his method of selecting music for his TV shows, Clark says: "I give the kids what they want. Some of it is pretty terrible, but if they like it, they can have it on my show." . . .

NTA's "Play of the Week," the critically-acclaimed series which recently went into syndication, is shown now in 15 major markets. .

We're told that Sunday's "Jack Benny Show" calls for the services of Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, but they will not be available. So in their place Benny has booked Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner of the cinema. This is what one might call going far afield!

Venire Drawn To Try Driver

A 30-member venire was drawn in Municipal Court Wednesday to report Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. for possible jury service in the trial of a Wellsville man arrested Feb. 7 on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Thomas Hyatt Lewis, 36, of 433 Main St. pleaded not guilty at arraignment Feb. 8 and asked a jury trial Feb. 9 in a motion filed by his counsel, Atty. George A. Aronson. Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark will appear for the city.

Police said Lewis was taken into custody on outer Dresden Ave. after he lost control of his car, which skidded on slippery pavement and came to a halt on the bank of Carpenters Run. The defendant is free on a $1,000 bond.

Bailiff Wilbert Taylor will serve a summons on each prospective juror. Judge Chertoff, conducting his first jury trial since assuming office Jan. 1, said he will use a 13-member panel in order that the proceedings will not be nullified by the possible illness or incapacity of a juror.

George De Witt Says He, Too, Is Leaving TV Show

NEW YORK (AP) — TV comedian George De Witt says he, too, is leaving the show "Be Our Guest," from which Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America of 1959, has been dropped.

"Now we're both out — Mary Ann and me," De Witt said Wednesday night.

He added that he had informed CBS that he would leave the show in seven weeks, when his 13-week contract expires. De Witt said he just doesn't "see eye to eye" with the producers on the show's format. The comedian said he has plans for another show.

Miss Mobley, 22-year-old brown-eyed beauty from Brandon, Miss., said Monday she was fired as a singer because De Witt told a producer of the show he didn't want her on it.

De Witt, who MC's the show, refused to say whether he ever said such a thing. He said that he had nothing personal against Miss Mobley because "I don't even know her, really."

Salineville Prayer Services Awaited

SALINEVILLE — The Salineville Ministerial Association is sponsoring the union observance of the World Day of Prayer Friday night at 7:30 at the Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Hilliard, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, will preach on "The Power of Prayer."

Other ministers to participate include the Rev. James McCollam, pastor of the Salineville and Grants Hill United Presbyterian Churches, and the Rev. Ernest E. Bacon, pastor of the Salineville and Oak Ridge Presbyterian Churches.

Music will consist of choral number by the combined choirs of the participating churches and a solo by Jack Randolph, music director.

Members of all Protestant churches in the Salineville and surrounding area are urged to attend, association officials said.

VA Clarifies New Pension Law Applicable On July 1

Paul R. Kilfoyle, manager of the Regional Veterans Administration Office at Youngstown, reminded that a new pension law pertaining to veterans, widows and minor children of deceased veterans will become effective July 1.

This new pension law is twofold insofar as it may entitle persons to pension who were not previously eligible or may increase the benefits of those now on the rolls. This article deals with both individually: widows and children will be reviewed first and veterans second.

Under the present law, widows of World War II and the Korean Conflict have not been eligible for pension unless it was established that the veteran, at the time of his death, had a disability which was the result of service.

Under the new law, this requirement need not be met. Widows of World War I and World War II and the Korean Conflict will basically be eligible for pension if the deceased veteran had 90 days or more of active duty, some part of which must have been during the wartime period. (If the veteran had less than 90 days, he must have been discharged from service for a service connected disability). In addition, the release from active duty must have been other than dishonorable.

Under the present law, widows, with no minor children, meeting the necessary requirement would be eligible for pension in the amount of $50.40, provided her income from all sources (other than VA pension) would not exceed $1,400.

If she has minor children, the income limitation is $2,700 and the pension would be $63 with one child and $7.56 for each additional child. If there was no surviving widow or, if she was not eligible, one child would be eligible for $27.30, two children $40.95, three children $54.60 and $7.56 for each additional child — the total amount to be divided equally among the children. However, each minor child would have an income limitation of $1,400.

Under the new law, the income limitations and monetary benefits would vary as follows:

A widow, without minor children, whose income will be $600 or less annually, would receive $60 a month; if more than $600 but not more than $1,200, $45 a month, and if over $1,200 but not over $1,800, it would be $25 a month.

If the widow has a minor child and her income does not exceed $1,000 annually, she would receive $75 a month; if over $1,000 but not more than $2,000, $60 a month, and if more than $2,000 but not over $3,000, $40 a month.

The above listed monthly rate will be increased $15 for each additional child in excess of one.

If there is no widow eligible or surviving, payment for the child alone will be $35 a month with $15 for each additional child, with the payments divided equally.

No pension will be payable to a child whose annual income excluding earned income, exceeds $1,800 (Earned income is that derived from wages or self-employment).

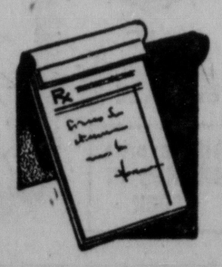

An additional provision under the new pension law is the consideration of the corpus of the estate of a person eligible for benefits. Any property, stocks, or bonds (other than the home in which the person is residing), or money in savings or checking accounts are to be considered in determining the person's need for pension.

Those persons who are receiving pension under the present law may change to the new law at any time, but once the change is made, may not revert back to the old law. If a person so desires, he or she may continue to receive benefits under the old law for as long as they are eligible.

However, before taking any action on changing, each person would do well to analyze the benefits now and in the future, based on any later change in income, before making such change. It would be wise to discuss it with the Veterans Administration first so that future payments will not be reduced. This is particularly in reference to widows who are not now eligible, because of age, for Social Security or Railroad Retirement, but might be upon reaching age 62 or 65.

Next: Veterans' phase of new law.

Trouble With Real Indians

The buzz along television row today is that "NBC is having trouble with the Indians." Not all Indians, mind you! Just Pima Indians.

Marie Torre

And now that the facts are known we're not quite sure whether it's a matter of NBC having trouble with the Pima Indians or the Pima Indians having trouble with NBC. The bone of contention is "The Ira Hayes Story," a coming "Sunday Showcase" special based on the life of the late Pima Indian, one of the six men who composed that classic Associated Press photo of the American flag being raised on Iwo Jima.

AT FIRST, when producer Robert Alan Aurthur, director John Frankenheimer and writer Merle Miller broached the idea to the braves on the Gila River Indian Reservation in Arizona, all parties under the tent practiced the art of being pleased.

The tribe would pass judgment on the script, in return for which the TV man would shoot all the film they needed of the reservation and its inhabitants.

Later, however, after Pima Gov. Jay R. Morago Jr. and his cabinet looked over the script, their reaction was such that if this had been 1690 instead of 1960 they would have called a war council.

Needless to say, the Pima reservation was closed to NBC, whereupon the television crew, seemingly undaunted, moved on to Tucson and the Papago Reservation for a reasonable facsimile of the Pima locale.

BUT ONE THING is sure. The Indians viewers will see in the television show on March 27 will not be Pima braves — not self-respecting Pima braves, that is!

"Let me put it this way," said Simpson Cox, the Phoenix attorney who represents the tribe. "Just as there are Skid Row Irish and Skid Row French, there are Skid Row Indians. If they get any Pima Indians in that show, they won't be good Pima Indians."

As Mr. Cox explained the conflict, Gov. Morago and the Pima Council objected to the script because it portrayed Hayes as "a typical Indian drunk."

The original story, Mr. Cox holds, gives a false impression of Hayes. Though the script reportedly has been changed on the advice of NBC counsel, neither Atty. Cox nor Gov. Morago has been told of the changes. Complaints on the matter may be filed by Mr. Cox in Washington.

"IF THE SCRIPT runs as originally written," Mr. Cox noted, "I believe we have cause for action against NBC and the stations that run the film.

"All we want is the true story of Hayes to be told. Not a fabrication. Indians historically have been lied to and about. We can't prevent this, but this time we're going to do our best to see that the American public knows the truth."

Meanwhile, producer Robert Alan Aurthur, acting in typical network executive manner, is noncommittal on the subject.

"Trouble?" he echoed from Tucson when queried about the conflict. "No trouble! If anything, I'd say we're not having as much trouble with the Pima Indians as they're having with us."

-:-

GREER GARSON will undertake the role of the high-minded representative of British imperialism in George Bernard Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion" May 2 on "Hall of Fame." This is the comedy Shaw wrote for Ellen Terry in 1889. . . .

Proving there's lucre in old movies, MGM reports that so far TV licensing of its film library has brought the studio 56 million dollars worth of contracts.

-:-

DICK CLARK makes an unusually candid admission in the current issue of Redbook. In explaining his method of selecting music for his TV shows, Clark says: "I give the kids what they want. Some of it is pretty terrible, but if they like it, they can have it on my show." . . .

NTA's "Play of the Week," the critically-acclaimed series which recently went into syndication, is shown now in 15 major markets. .

We're told that Sunday's "Jack Benny Show" calls for the services of Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, but they will not be available. So in their place Benny has booked Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner of the cinema. This is what one might call going far afield!

Venire Drawn To Try Driver

A 30-member venire was drawn in Municipal Court Wednesday to report Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. for possible jury service in the trial of a Wellsville man arrested Feb. 7 on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Thomas Hyatt Lewis, 36, of 433 Main St. pleaded not guilty at arraignment Feb. 8 and asked a jury trial Feb. 9 in a motion filed by his counsel, Atty. George A. Aronson. Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark will appear for the city.

Police said Lewis was taken into custody on outer Dresden Ave. after he lost control of his car, which skidded on slippery pavement and came to a halt on the bank of Carpenters Run. The defendant is free on a $1,000 bond.

Bailiff Wilbert Taylor will serve a summons on each prospective juror. Judge Chertoff, conducting his first jury trial since assuming office Jan. 1, said he will use a 13-member panel in order that the proceedings will not be nullified by the possible illness or incapacity of a juror.

George De Witt Says He, Too, Is Leaving TV Show

NEW YORK (AP) — TV comedian George De Witt says he, too, is leaving the show "Be Our Guest," from which Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America of 1959, has been dropped.

"Now we're both out — Mary Ann and me," De Witt said Wednesday night.

He added that he had informed CBS that he would leave the show in seven weeks, when his 13-week contract expires. De Witt said he just doesn't "see eye to eye" with the producers on the show's format. The comedian said he has plans for another show.

Miss Mobley, 22-year-old brown-eyed beauty from Brandon, Miss., said Monday she was fired as a singer because De Witt told a producer of the show he didn't want her on it.

De Witt, who MC's the show, refused to say whether he ever said such a thing. He said that he had nothing personal against Miss Mobley because "I don't even know her, really."

VA Clarifies New Pension Law Applicable On July 1

Paul R. Kilfoyle, manager of the Regional Veterans Administration Office at Youngstown, reminded that a new pension law pertaining to veterans, widows and minor children of deceased veterans will become effective July 1.

This new pension law is twofold insofar as it may entitle persons to pension who were not previously eligible or may increase the benefits of those now on the rolls. This article deals with both individually: widows and children will be reviewed first and veterans second.

Under the present law, widows of World War II and the Korean Conflict have not been eligible for pension unless it was established that the veteran, at the time of his death, had a disability which was the result of service.

Under the new law, this requirement need not be met. Widows of World War I and World War II and the Korean Conflict will basically be eligible for pension if the deceased veteran had 90 days or more of active duty, some part of which must have been during the wartime period. (If the veteran had less than 90 days, he must have been discharged from service for a service connected disability). In addition, the release from active duty must have been other than dishonorable.

Under the present law, widows, with no minor children, meeting the necessary requirement would be eligible for pension in the amount of $50.40, provided her income from all sources (other than VA pension) would not exceed $1,400.

If she has minor children, the income limitation is $2,700 and the pension would be $63 with one child and $7.56 for each additional child. If there was no surviving widow or, if she was not eligible, one child would be eligible for $27.30, two children $40.95, three children $54.60 and $7.56 for each additional child — the total amount to be divided equally among the children. However, each minor child would have an income limitation of $1,400.

Under the new law, the income limitations and monetary benefits would vary as follows:

A widow, without minor children, whose income will be $600 or less annually, would receive $60 a month; if more than $600 but not more than $1,200, $45 a month, and if over $1,200 but not over $1,800, it would be $25 a month.

If the widow has a minor child and her income does not exceed $1,000 annually, she would receive $75 a month; if over $1,000 but not more than $2,000, $60 a month, and if more than $2,000 but not over $3,000, $40 a month.

The above listed monthly rate will be increased $15 for each additional child in excess of one.

If there is no widow eligible or surviving, payment for the child alone will be $35 a month with $15 for each additional child, with the payments divided equally.

No pension will be payable to a child whose annual income excluding earned income, exceeds $1,800 (Earned income is that derived from wages or self-employment).

An additional provision under the new pension law is the consideration of the corpus of the estate of a person eligible for benefits. Any property, stocks, or bonds (other than the home in which the person is residing), or money in savings or checking accounts are to be considered in determining the person's need for pension.

Those persons who are receiving pension under the present law may change to the new law at any time, but once the change is made, may not revert back to the old law. If a person so desires, he or she may continue to receive benefits under the old law for as long as they are eligible.

However, before taking any action on changing, each person would do well to analyze the benefits now and in the future, based on any later change in income, before making such change. It would be wise to discuss it with the Veterans Administration first so that future payments will not be reduced. This is particularly in reference to widows who are not now eligible, because of age, for Social Security or Railroad Retirement, but might be upon reaching age 62 or 65.

Next: Veterans' phase of new law.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What's the matter with the men in this world? I'm married to an old geezer whose eyes practically fall out of his head when a young girl passes. I can't keep a maid in the house because he got smart with every girl who worked for us. We've had to move twice because he became too friendly with women neighbors.

I used to think it was just him but now I've decided all men are this way. Last week I had to see a lawyer about property problems. He made a pass at me. When I told him off he said I was "imagining things." Even the delivery boys and the electrician in this building have made improper advances.

I'm very good-looking for my age but I never give anyone encouragement.

Don't tell me to see a doctor. I don't trust doctors either. I've been to two in the past year and they both propositioned me. — MAN HATER.

-:-

Dear Man Hater: Go to a woman doctor (head type) and get the help you need. You've got a one-track mind—and the track is a little muddy.

Mercenary-Minded

Dear Ann: I've been going with a fellow for five years. There are many good reasons why we can't marry for awhile but I won't go into them here.

We exchange presents at Christmas and on birthdays. I'd say he spends between $20 and $30 on me. For the last three years I've asked him what he would like and he says. "Give me the money and I'll buy what I want." So, I've been giving him $25 in cash every Christmas and again on his birthday.

So far I've never known him to buy anything with the money. I think he just saves it. His birthday is coming up again next month. What shall I do?—GWEN.

Dear Gwen: Don't ask questions and you won't get answers. Buy him what you think he'd like and don't let him make a commercial event out of occasions which should have sentiment.

There's A Difference

Dear Ann: Your recent advice entitled, "Don't be a pal to your son," hit us at a very bad time.

I'm the executive director of a well-known national organization. Your advice appeared on the opening day of our national drive to encourage a better relationship between fathers and sons. The slogan for our campaign is "Pals Forever." Needless to say, you've unwittingly dealt us a sharp blow.

I'm sure you'll agree a father can be a pal as well as a good disciplinarian. We are trying to encourage fathers to spend more time with their sons. The modern dad seems to be "too busy."

Will you please help us by pointing out the difference between being a companion and letting a boy walk all over his dad? Thank you.—NO NAME PLEASE.

-:-

Dear No Name: Unfortunately this is a matter of semantics. If I had been asked for a slogan I would have suggested "Friends Forever." The word pal suggests a "buddy-buddy" tieup which puts pa right down there at the 11-year-old level.

I'm all for fathers' spending time with their sons and repeatedly have said so in this space, but it should be at a good level and not a palsy-walsy arrangement.

The dad who tries to be a "chum" is like the boss who dances and drinks all evening with his secretary at the office party then expects her to say "Yes Sir" on Monday morning.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I used to think it was just him but now I've decided all men are this way. Last week I had to see a lawyer about property problems. He made a pass at me. When I told him off he said I was "imagining things." Even the delivery boys and the electrician in this building have made improper advances.

I'm very good-looking for my age but I never give anyone encouragement.

Don't tell me to see a doctor. I don't trust doctors either. I've been to two in the past year and they both propositioned me. — MAN HATER.

-:-

Dear Man Hater: Go to a woman doctor (head type) and get the help you need. You've got a one-track mind—and the track is a little muddy.

Mercenary-Minded

Dear Ann: I've been going with a fellow for five years. There are many good reasons why we can't marry for awhile but I won't go into them here.

We exchange presents at Christmas and on birthdays. I'd say he spends between $20 and $30 on me. For the last three years I've asked him what he would like and he says. "Give me the money and I'll buy what I want." So, I've been giving him $25 in cash every Christmas and again on his birthday.

So far I've never known him to buy anything with the money. I think he just saves it. His birthday is coming up again next month. What shall I do?—GWEN.

Dear Gwen: Don't ask questions and you won't get answers. Buy him what you think he'd like and don't let him make a commercial event out of occasions which should have sentiment.

There's A Difference

Dear Ann: Your recent advice entitled, "Don't be a pal to your son," hit us at a very bad time.

I'm the executive director of a well-known national organization. Your advice appeared on the opening day of our national drive to encourage a better relationship between fathers and sons. The slogan for our campaign is "Pals Forever." Needless to say, you've unwittingly dealt us a sharp blow.

I'm sure you'll agree a father can be a pal as well as a good disciplinarian. We are trying to encourage fathers to spend more time with their sons. The modern dad seems to be "too busy."

Will you please help us by pointing out the difference between being a companion and letting a boy walk all over his dad? Thank you.—NO NAME PLEASE.

-:-

Dear No Name: Unfortunately this is a matter of semantics. If I had been asked for a slogan I would have suggested "Friends Forever." The word pal suggests a "buddy-buddy" tieup which puts pa right down there at the 11-year-old level.

I'm all for fathers' spending time with their sons and repeatedly have said so in this space, but it should be at a good level and not a palsy-walsy arrangement.

The dad who tries to be a "chum" is like the boss who dances and drinks all evening with his secretary at the office party then expects her to say "Yes Sir" on Monday morning.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sweet, Pungent Pork Can Be Buffet Specialty

With Hawaiian and Polynesian food becoming more popular, why not choose a Sweet and Pungent Pork for a party? Serve it with hot cooked rice or for an extra special and attractive main course plate, serve both rice and crisp canned Chinese noodles. This type of a main course lends itself beautifully to buffet service.

If you have an electric skillet, you can arrange your ingredients in attractive bowls and cook the food directly on the buffet table. Or, if you have an attractive skillet, bring that to the table and serve your Sweet and Pungent Pork steaming hot—directly from the skillet.

Sweet and Pungent Pork

1 lb. pork steak
2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet
1 tablespoon fat
1 can (9 oz.) sliced pineapple
¾ cup pineapple syrup
¼ cup vinegar
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon ginger
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 green pepper, cubed
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Cut pork into ½-inch cubes. Place in suitable bowl and sprinkle with kitchen bouquet. Melt fat in frying pan. Add pork and brown quickly over moderate heat. Drain pineapple syrup and add sufficient water to make ¾-cup.

Add pineapple syrup, vinegar, bouillon cube, brown sugar, mustard and ginger. Bring to boil and cook, covered, for about 25 minutes. Cut each slice of pineapple into 4 pieces.

Drain mushrooms, reserving broth. Add pineapple pieces, mushrooms and green pepper, cut into ¾ inch cubes.

Cover and heat thoroughly, about 5 minutes. Combine mushroom broth and cornstarch and stir into pork mixture. Bring to boil stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Serve immediately, with hot rice and crisp Chinese noodles.

Oberlin Students Given Advice To Get Parade Okay

CLEVELAND (AP)—Oberlin College students were advised to get a permit from city officials if they want to stage a "peaceful" parade around Public Square here Saturday.

Three students from Oberlin, a noted coeducational college about 50 miles from here, conferred with an attorney here Wednesday. The youths said they want to protest recent racial troubles in the South, and they emphasized they were not protesting conditions in Cleveland.

They merely want a larger audience than they can find in the city of Oberlin, said the students' delegates, Barbara Johnson of Clinton, N. Y., Tom Giddings of Nashville, Tenn., and Charles Lawrence of Scarsdale, N. Y.

The three delegates, reportedly backed by Oberlin's student council and the school's chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, also had asked Cleveland-area schools for help in the demonstration.

A mass meeting of students is scheduled tonight on the Oberlin campus.

Woman Strangled Before Fire, Says Coroner At Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Emma Remy was strangled manually before fire burned her home, the Lawrence County coroner has testified at the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer.

The state charges Schaffer strangled Mrs. Remy, his former school teacher, Feb. 21, 1958, then set her house afire after robbing the victim of 28 cents. The death penalty has been asked.

The coroner, Dr. Harry Nenni, however, admitted it was possible the woman could have died from a fall, as the defense is stressing. The defense is pleading insanity for Schaffer, 25-year-old ex-convict.

Sheriff Carl E. Rose submitted a signed statement Wednesday which he said Schaffer gave him when he was arrested in Oklahoma City last Aug. 26. The defense has asked to study it because it had not seen it.

Schaffer also is charged with arson and three other felony counts.

Woman Strangled Before Fire, Says Coroner At Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Emma Remy was strangled manually before fire burned her home, the Lawrence County coroner has testified at the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer.

The state charges Schaffer strangled Mrs. Remy, his former school teacher, Feb. 21, 1958, then set her house afire after robbing the victim of 28 cents. The death penalty has been asked.

The coroner, Dr. Harry Nenni, however, admitted it was possible the woman could have died from a fall, as the defense is stressing. The defense is pleading insanity for Schaffer, 25-year-old ex-convict.

Sheriff Carl E. Rose submitted a signed statement Wednesday which he said Schaffer gave him when he was arrested in Oklahoma City last Aug. 26. The defense has asked to study it because it had not seen it.

Schaffer also is charged with arson and three other felony counts.

Oberlin Students Given Advice To Get Parade Okay

CLEVELAND (AP)—Oberlin College students were advised to get a permit from city officials if they want to stage a "peaceful" parade around Public Square here Saturday.

Three students from Oberlin, a noted coeducational college about 50 miles from here, conferred with an attorney here Wednesday. The youths said they want to protest recent racial troubles in the South, and they emphasized they were not protesting conditions in Cleveland.

They merely want a larger audience than they can find in the city of Oberlin, said the students' delegates, Barbara Johnson of Clinton, N. Y., Tom Giddings of Nashville, Tenn., and Charles Lawrence of Scarsdale, N. Y.

The three delegates, reportedly backed by Oberlin's student council and the school's chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, also had asked Cleveland-area schools for help in the demonstration.

A mass meeting of students is scheduled tonight on the Oberlin campus.

No census has ever been taken in Afghanistan. Estimated population is 13 million people.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Case Institute of Technology announced today that six new professors have been added to the faculty. Karl B. McEachron Jr., dean of instruction, said the school now has a full-time teaching staff of 212.

MRS. FILBERT ROSE TO CONQUER!

1. Martha Filbert was a woman with a purpose. She wanted to make margarine taste good. (It didn't at the time.)

2. She wanted to give people a margarine that would save them money and delight their taste, too!

3. She blended and tested—and made a margarine cool and sweet and delicate to taste—delicious!

4. The other margarines taste pretty good these days, but Mrs. Filbert's has always tasted noticeably better.

5. Try Mrs. Filbert's. It's cool and delicate sweet to taste, and then gone—a moment of sweet delight!

WHOSE Beef Are You Buying??

A very important question. Because the beef you buy in a retail store has been purchased originally from a meat packer. Yet less than 10% of the nation's meat-dressing plants are U. S. Government Inspected.

So, when shopping for beef, it's wise to know the identity of the packer whose meat you're buying. For only by knowing that the beef has been U. S. Government Inspected can you be sure of completely protecting your family's health.

There's no guesswork about the beef you buy at Thorofare. The bright foil labels tell you it's Armour Star Deluxe Beef. Every cut is from selected grain-fed cattle which are U. S. Government Inspected and have also met the exacting standards established for this highest quality brand.

You always know it's tender, flavorful and wholesome because you always know it's Armour Star Deluxe Beef, from Thorofare.

At Thorofare YOU KNOW!

WHOSE Beef Are You Buying??

A very important question. Because the beef you buy in a retail store has been purchased originally from a meat packer. Yet less than 10% of the nation's meat-dressing plants are U. S. Government Inspected.

So, when shopping for beef, it's wise to know the identity of the packer whose meat you're buying. For only by knowing that the beef has been U. S. Government Inspected can you be sure of completely protecting your family's health.

There's no guesswork about the beef you buy at Thorofare. The bright foil labels tell you it's Armour Star Deluxe Beef. Every cut is from selected grain-fed cattle which are U. S. Government inspected and have also met the exacting standards established for this highest quality brand.

You always know it's tender, flavorful and wholesome because you always know it's Armour Star Deluxe Beef, from Thorofare.

At Thorofare YOU KNOW!

This label is your assurance of uniform, highest quality U. S. Gov't. Inspected Beef . . . Armour ★ Deluxe Beef!

Reducers Must Overcome Inertia

By Ida Jean Kain

If you get into the habit of using food as a tranquilizer to ease tensions, you'll gain unwanted poundage. When you eat to satisfy false hunger — a hunger not caused by lack of food — you are not really solving the problem. Fact is, you create another problem, overweight.

It's quite easy to get caught in a kind of vicious circle. In the beginning, there is some cause, but when this turns into a habit pattern and the result is overweight, then the effect becomes the cause!

To illustrate: One overweight wrote that she couldn't get into any of her dress-up clothes, so she couldn't go any place. This made her so depressed and she would eat. She realized full well that eating just made bad matters worse, but it took some mental housecleaning to pull out of the rut.

IN THIS CASE it wasn't too difficult to couple the cause with the effect, since the onset of the weight problem tallied with the time her husband retired.

The change in her way of living set her to constant nibbling. But not until she had added an extra 35 pounds did she attempt to reason why.

It took a trip away from home to jolt her awake. When she saw friends who had real cause to worry, who were coping with family illness courageously, she realized how foolish she had been. It was then she determined to do some mental housecleaning, change her attitude, and change herself.

Friends, the idea that it will be rewarding to exert yourself is not always easy to accept. Food, excess food that is, offers a kind of passive gratification...but the consequences are so unsatisfactory! So a course of action is needed.

Activity means doing something. When you just sit at home, you stay cooped up with your worries. Here is a promise...take action and then you will feel like it.

It is important to realize that all of us have to depend on outside stimulation to keep alert and feeling alive. When you look for ways to make life more interesting, you are on the right track. Any measure that stirs up your enthusiasm helps you to hurdle that initial inertia.

TO KEEP ON course — set a goal. March is the bridge between winter and spring. Use this interlude to get in shape for spring.

Decide in your own mind that this can be the most enjoyable spring you have ever experienced. If you are willing to make the effort, you'll liberate energy, and reap unexpected rewards.

Phone Call Spans 20 Years Of Heartbreak, Separation

MOSCOW (AP)—A two-minute telephone talk Wednesday night spanned 20-years of heartbreak and separation for the Armonas family.

Still waiting final Soviet exit papers, Mrs. Barbara Armonas and her son, Johnny, 19, talked with her husband and daughter, Donna, 24, in Copenhagen.

John Armonas Sr. and Donna who have lived in the United States since the family was separated in 1939, flew to Copenhagen Wednesday to await the rest of the family. Donna had appealed to Nikita S. Khrushchev to let her mother and brother leave Lithuania when the Soviet premier visited the United States last fall.

The U.S. embassy has obtained the documents for Mrs. Armonas and her son to enter the United States, and their papers are now in the hands of Soviet authorities for approval of exit visas.

Mrs. Armonas said she is hopeful of leaving by Friday afternoon or Saturday morning for a family reunion in Denmark.

Mr. and Mrs. Armonas lived in the United States from 1929 to 1935. They came to Lithuania for a visit and delayed returning. The father and daughter left in 1939 when World War II loomed. Mrs. Armonas stayed behind to have a baby, and she and her son were trapped by the Russians.

The father and daughter have been living in Wickliffe, Ohio.

Latin America Holds For U.S.

Reservoir Of Good Will

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) —Although ending on a note of turbulence, President Eisenhower's 10-day South American tour demonstrated that Latin America holds a tremendous reservoir of good will for the United States.

But the isolated anti-U.S. incidents that cropped up in each of the four countries Eisenhower visited served as a warning that the United States must keep on its toes if good relations are to be maintained.

U.S. officials agree that a strong follow-through on the tour is needed—and there already are signs that it will be made.

More than any other single U.S. move in recent years, the President's visit to Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay served to strengthen ties among the 21 nations of the Western Hemisphere. It has created an atmosphere in which the solution of specific and touchy problems could come more easily.

Here is a brief recapitulation of some of the obvious achievements of the trip:

It recemented U.S. relations with Brazil, a traditional ally, and showed the strength of the new friendship between the United States and Argentina, a long-time critic.

It clarified for an important segment of Latin America's population the position of the United States as a supporter of peace, nonintervention, democracy and economic development. This clarification was conveyed by the most direct means possible to the estimated three to four million people who saw the President in person, watched him on TV, or heard him on the radio.

It added new impetus to Eisenhower's hopes of bringing Latin America more closely into the free world alliance. He talked with each of the four countries' presidents on the forthcoming East-West summit meeting.

It emphasized Washington's support of curbs on the arms race in Latin America. Eisenhower stressed repeatedly that savings from such curbs could go for economic development.

It enabled Eisenhower to stress that the United States—contrary to some Latin-American thought—does not have inexhaustible financial resources. He made this point in avoiding as tactfully as possible any formal financial commitments to the host countries. Nevertheless, each of the four chiefs of state with whom he conferred let him know they expect more U.S. help.

Statistics Disclosed About Average Driver

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Statistics show the average motorist gets a speeding ticket every 15 years, says the Peninsula Motor Club.

In a report Wednesday, the club said the average motorist should get a parking ticket every 2.8 years and it would take the average motorist 16,400,000 miles of driving to become involved in a fatal accident. He only drives 500,000 in his lifetime.

As an aid to the colonization of early Virginia, agreeable maidens were brought over from England and sold, with their own consent, as wives to the young planters for 120 pounds of tobacco.

NAACP's 'Deaf' To DiSalle About Store Picketing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Continued picketing of two F. W. Woolworth stores on behalf of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was in prospect today as the NAACP turned deaf ears to a warning from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Gov. DiSalle said in Columbus Wednesday such picketing could "start the same sort of violence that exists in some southern communities."

Replied J. W. Bowen, local NAACP vice president:

"Picketing will continue until Negro clerks are hired."

NAACP pickets took up their posts Monday before two of the five Woolworth stores located here, one downtown, the other in uptown Walnut Hills — in protest, the NAACP said, against the chain-store policy of not hiring Negro salespeople. Store managements said they did employ Negroes but the NAACP contended such workers occupied only menial positions.

Picketing of the downtown store failed to deter Negro patronage of its lunch counter. At one time, six Negroes were observed seated enjoying their noon repasts.

Many persons have the type of color blindness that causes confusion of red and green, but very few have complete color blindness in which everything is as black, gray and white.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Statistics show the average motorist gets a speeding ticket every 15 years, says the Peninsula Motor Club.

In a report Wednesday, the club said the average motorist should get a parking ticket every 2.8 years and it would take the average motorist 16,400,000 miles of driving to become involved in a fatal accident. He only drives 500,000 in his lifetime.

NAACP's 'Deaf' To DiSalle About Store Picketing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Continued picketing of two F. W. Woolworth stores on behalf of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was in prospect today as the NAACP turned deaf ears to a warning from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Gov. DiSalle said in Columbus Wednesday such picketing could "start the same sort of violence that exists in some southern communities."

Replied J. W. Bowen, local NAACP vice president:

"Picketing will continue until Negro clerks are hired."

NAACP pickets took up their posts Monday before two of the five Woolworth stores located here, one downtown, the other in uptown Walnut Hills — in protest, the NAACP said, against the chain-store policy of not hiring Negro salespeople. Store managements said they did employ Negroes but the NAACP contended such workers occupied only menial positions.

Picketing of the downtown store failed to deter Negro patronage of its lunch counter. At one time, six Negroes were observed seated enjoying their noon repasts.

DiSalle Honor Camp Plan At Strip Mines Is Stalled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's plan to establish prison honor camps at two or more strip mine sites may have to wait awhile.

Corrections Commissioner M. C. Koblentz said today that the proposal "has a lot of merit, but we would have to take inventory to determine whether there are enough of the right kind of inmates available for such a project."

Because the men work under minimum supervision, Koblentz explained, inmates are carefully screened before being assigned to such camps. The Division of Corrections operates three nursery and three forestry camps in conjunction with the Department of Natural Resources. About 300 inmates are assigned to the six camps.

Natural Resources Director Herbert B. Eagon said his department is studying nine areas formerly used in strip mining, although none of the nine has been acquired by the state. With new equipment, Eagon explained it might be possible to reach reserves which old mining tools were unable to touch. The department also wants to study the "pattern of ownership as related to stripping," he said.

The Division of Reclamation recently was moved from the Department of Agriculture to Natural Resources. It has been concerned particularly with pre-law strip mine spoil banks; that is, land strip-mined before a 1948 law which makes mine operators responsible for reclaiming the land.

The present forestry and nursery camps are near Marietta, Portsmouth, Oxford, Fremont, Logan and Zanesville. The program was begun in May, 1950 and the walk-away rate among several thousand inmates who have taken part has been less than one per cent.

Koblentz termed it an "excellent cooperative program that has benefited both the Corrections Division and Natural Resources." Inmates have done excellent service during several emergencies such as floods and forest fires, he added.

'Miracle Baby' Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Suburban Lakewood Hospital's "miracle baby," Walter Hilles III, who weighed 22 ounces when born 12 weeks ago, went home Wednesday weighing a much healtheir five pounds, nine ounces. Born about three months prematurely to Mrs. Walter R. Hilles, 21, of Lakewood, Walter was given less than a 1 to 1,000 chance of living. Expert nursing care saved his life, according to a Lakewood Hospital physician.

Lakers Need Win Tonight To Gain Spot In Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis can complete the National Basketball Assn. playoff picture tonight by defeating Cincinnati in the first game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia.

The Lakers clinched a tie for third place in the Western Division Wednesday night by downing te New York Knicks 123-113 as Elgin Baylor tossed in 48 points. Cincinnati must win all of its remaining tree games while the Lakers drop their five to tie for the last playoff spot.

Boston's Celtics turned on all of their finesse to whip the Philadelphia Warriors 133-119 in the nightcap to the Lakers - Knicks game. Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain was the high scorer with 39 points.

The Detroit Pistons turned in a 116-100 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in a game between the two top Western Division clubs.

U.S. Olympic Goalie To Get Try With Pros

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack McCartan, whose goal-tending was a big factor in the U. S. Olympic hockey victory, is going to get a chance to show what he can do in the pro ranks.

The former Minnesota hockey and baseball star from St. Paul was due to report to the New York Rangers for a workout today. If all goes well he'll be in the nets when the Rangers oppose the Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

Under National Hockey League rules, an amateur may play five games as a pro without losing his amateur standing. McCartan is on leave from Ft. Carson, Colo., but is scheduled to be discharged from the Army the latter part of this month.

DiSalle Honor Camp Plan At Strip Mines Is Stalled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's plan to establish prison honor camps at two or more strip mine sites may have to wait awhile.

Corrections Commissioner M. C. Koblentz said today that the proposal "has a lot of merit, but we would have to take inventory to determine whether there are enough of the right kind of inmates available for such a project."

Because the men work under minimum supervision, Koblentz explained, inmates are carefully screened before being assigned to such camps. The Division of Corrections operates three nursery and three forestry camps in conjunction with the Department of Natural Resources. About 300 inmates are assigned to the six camps.

Natural Resources Director Herbert B. Eagon said his department is studying nine areas formerly used in strip mining, although none of the nine has been acquired by the state. With new equipment, Eagon explained it might be possible to reach reserves which old mining tools were unable to touch. The department also wants to study the "pattern of ownership as related to stripping," he said.

The Division of Reclamation recently was moved from the Department of Agriculture to Natural Resources. It has been concerned particularly with pre-law strip mine spoil banks; that is, land strip-mined before a 1948 law which makes mine operators responsible for reclaiming the land.

The present forestry and nursery camps are near Marietta, Portsmouth, Oxford, Fremont, Logan and Zanesville. The program was begun in May, 1950 and the walk-away rate among several thousand inmates who have taken part has been less than one per cent.

Koblentz termed it an "excellent cooperative program that has benefited both the Corrections Division and Natural Resources." Inmates have done excellent service during several emergencies such as floods and forest fires, he added.

'Miracle Baby' Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Suburban Lakewood Hospital's "miracle baby," Walter Hilles III, who weighed 22 ounces when born 12 weeks ago, went home Wednesday weighing a much healtheir five pounds, nine ounces. Born about three months prematurely to Mrs. Walter R. Hilles, 21, of Lakewood, Walter was given less than a 1 to 1,000 chance of living. Expert nursing care saved his life, according to a Lakewood Hospital physician.

Lakers Need Win Tonight To Gain Spot In Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis can complete the National Basketball Assn. playoff picture tonight by defeating Cincinnati in the first game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia.

The Lakers clinched a tie for third place in the Western Division Wednesday night by downing te New York Knicks 123-113 as Elgin Baylor tossed in 48 points. Cincinnati must win all of its remaining tree games while the Lakers drop their five to tie for the last playoff spot.

Boston's Celtics turned on all of their finesse to whip the Philadelphia Warriors 133-119 in the nightcap to the Lakers - Knicks game. Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain was the high scorer with 39 points.

The Detroit Pistons turned in a 116-100 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in a game between the two top Western Division clubs.

U.S. Olympic Goalie To Get Try With Pros

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack McCartan, whose goal-tending was a big factor in the U. S. Olympic hockey victory, is going to get a chance to show what he can do in the pro ranks.

The former Minnesota hockey and baseball star from St. Paul was due to report to the New York Rangers for a workout today. If all goes well he'll be in the nets when the Rangers oppose the Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

Under National Hockey League rules, an amateur may play five games as a pro without losing his amateur standing. McCartan is on leave from Ft. Carson, Colo., but is scheduled to be discharged from the Army the latter part of this month.

By The Associated Press

Evansville's defending champions, back with a strong team, start their bid for another NCAA small college basketball title tonight.

Four-team regionals at Evansville, Ind., and Winooski, Vt., touch off a week-end of regional eliminations that will send eight survivors to the national windup—also at Evansville, March 9-11.

The other six regionals, bringing in the other 24 teams in the 32-team tournament for small schools will be played Friday and Saturday at Owensboro, Ky., Staten Island, N. Y., Wheaton, Ill., Fresno, Calif., Galesburg, Ill., and Kirksville, Mo.

40 - Head of High Quality Dairy Cattle

Mostly high grade Guernseys with a few Holsteins and Ayrshires. The milking herd consists of 28 head, mostly young and including 10 COBA heifers milking with first calves. While the majority of their herd are bred for August and Sept. freshening, One Holstein will be a close springer by day of sale, 2 Ayrshire heifers are due in Feb. and several other in the spring and early summer.

There are a number of high quality COBA heifers due with their first calf in May and June and the balance of the herd consists of heifer calves from COBA sires.

This herd consists of sound, productive cattle and you will find them in good condition. All but two were raised on the farm. They have done well for us and we feel that they will please the most discriminating buyer. If interested in good cattle, attend this sale. Health certificates furnished.

Prosecutor Says Dr. Finch's 'Whole Soap Opera Was Lie'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A prosecutor says Dr. R. Bernard Finch's "whole soap opera was a lie."

And the society surgeon's mistress and co-defendant, Carole Tregoff, the prosecutor said, is a "latter-day Lady Macbeth" who was the "aggressor and instigator" in the slaying of the doctor's wife.

Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, have been on trial since Dec. 8, charged with conspiracy and murder in the shooting of Barbara Jean Finch, 36, last July 18. The prosecution continues its final summation today, and the case may go to the jury Friday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello—almost like a father confessor in his cross-examination of Finch during testimony—tore into the doctor Wednesday like a bristling Marine sergeant.

Whichello told the jury that the doctor is "a man without character and a man without principles" who has told "a self-serving piece of fiction in denying he killed his wife."

Finch maintains a gun went off accidentally while he and his wife were struggling, but Whichello rejects this as an "obvious absurdity."

Whichello began his denunciation of the doctor's story after the defense completed its three-day summation. Defense Attorney Grant B. Cooper argued that Mrs. Finch concocted stories about being beaten by her husband and spread them among her friends to increase her financial take in a divorce suit she had pending.

Ohio Airman, 2 Others Safe After Parachute Jump

FAIR BLUFF, N. C. (AP)—S. Sgt. J. M. Short, 29, of Mansfield, Ohio, was found safe near here Wednesday after he and two others were ordered to parachute from an ice-laden Air Force transport.

All three enlisted men were reported in good condition after spending about four hours in a swamp in sub-freezing weather during a snowstorm.

"We were at about 1,000 feet when the men jumped," said 1st Lt. Peyton R. Coffman of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the pilot. Heavy icing all over the plane made it sluggish and difficult to control, he added. A co-pilot and flight engineer remained with the pilot as he landed the two-engine C123 troop carrier safely.

The snowstorm diverted the flight, which originated at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., from Pope AFB, N.C., to Myrtle Beach AFB, S.C.
